 conservation of old sanaa is a major cultural heritage initiative that began in the 1980 s under the auspices of unesco it continues today led by local agencies and actors in contrast to other parts of the world where conservation was introduced at a later date to remediate the effects of modernization in yemen the two processes have been more or less concurrent this has resulted in a paradox unlike many other countries in the middle east that abandoned traditional construction practices long ago in yemen these practices have not died out builders and craftsmen still work in traditional construction and see themselves as caretakers of the old city at the same time social forms that shaped the built fabric persist in both the old city and the new districts yemenis in effect are not separated from their heritage by an historical divide what does it mean to conserve in a place where the historic past is in some sense still alive how must international agencies and consultants readjust theory and practice as they interact with living representatives of this historic past and what are the implications of the case of sanaa for conservation in general building a world heritage city addresses these questions and also fosters greater cultural understanding of a little known but geopolitically important part of the world that is often portrayed exclusively in terms of unrest and political turmoil the religious and strategic importance of the mamluk city in the middle east offers an interdisciplinary study of urban history urban experience and the nature of urbanism in the region under the rule of the mamluk sultanate 1250 1517 the book focuses on three less explored but politically significant cities in the syrian region jerusalem safad now in israel and tripoli now in lebanon and presents a new approach and methodology for understanding historical cities drawing on diverse textual sources and intensive field surveys nimrod luz reveals the character of the mamlok city as well as various aspects of urbanism in the region establishing the pre modern city of the middle east as a valid and useful lens through which to study various themes such as architecture art history history and politics of the built environment as part of this approach luz considers the processes by which mamlok discourses of urbanism were conceptualized and then inscribed in the urban environment as concrete expressions of architectural design spatial planning and public memorialization the story of iraq is one of resistance in this groundbreaking study johan franzen offers a contextual modern history of the country its creation and its struggle for sovereignty iraq s contemporary history is a tale of a diverse people thrown together into a nation state by imperialist statecraft from the state s inception as a league of nations mandate in the 1920s through wars coups and revolutions iraqis have always resisted foreign domination but the country propelled by the quest for power intense national pride and a zeal for sovereignty was catapulted along a trajectory of violence on one side stood imperialism seeking to control iraq for its own ends facing it iraqis of varying nationalist groups tried to rid the country of foreign meddling and steer a course of self determination pride and power offers in depth analysis of the most important events decisions and processes that led iraq down this path based on extensive research of primary sources both iraqi and western the book unravels the complexity of iraq s political history it is essential reading for anyone interested in the international relations of the middle east or in understanding the rich history of iraq from its foundation to the present in the west the iraqi invasion of kuwait in august 1990 and later saddam husain s political survival following a punishing defeat in war have been greeted with bewilderment and incomprehension the history of politics in iraq and the context which has given rise to saddam husayn s violent ba thist regime have been barely understood this highly praised book is the first to explore the emergence of modern iraq from its foundation in 1920 into the 21st century it covers the period from the revolution in 1958 concentrating particularly on saddam husayn s rise to power and his consolidation as leader it is the only political history of modern iraq now available to provide a critical analysis of the ba thist regime which has ruled since 1968 the authors also explore the role and decline of the iraqi communist party the shifting policies towards the kurds and the shi is the nationalisation of oil and iraq s relations with its neighbours with the extensive revision and updatings of peter sluglett they provide a stimulating analysis of the country s economy now so drastically affected by international sanctions real promo blurb as the world holds its breath while the us iraq confrontation approaches its denouement here is the definitive story of saddam husayn his rise to power and the historical background to his dictatorship this highly praised book explores the emergence of modern iraq from the revolution in 1958 and concentrating on saddam husayn s rise to power and his consolidation as leader the only political history of modern iraq now available it provides a critical analysis of the ba thist regime which has ruled since 1968 it explores the decline of the iraqi communist party the shifting policies towards the kurds and the shi is and iraq s relations with its neighbours extensively updated by peter sluglett it provides analysis of the country s economy now so damaged by international sanctions this is an excellent reasoned historical analysis of iraq lucidly written theoretically astute empirically based politically firm fred halliday a very good book indeed albert hourani author aff the late marion farouk sluglett lectured in middle eastern politics at the university college of wales peter sluglett is professor of history at the university of utah laura kasinof studied arabic in college and moved to yemen a few years later after a friend at a late night party in washington dc recommended the country as a good place to work as a freelance journalist when she first moved to the capital city of sanaa in 2009 she was the only american reporter based in the country she quickly fell in love with yemen s people and culture and even found herself the star of a local tv soap opera when antigovernment protests broke out in yemen in 2011 part of the revolts sweeping the arab world at the time she contacted the new york times to see if she could cover the rapidly unfolding events for the newspaper laura never planned to be a war correspondent but found herself in the middle of brutal government attacks on peaceful protesters as foreign reporters were rounded up and shipped out of the country laura managed to elude the authorities but found herself increasingly isolated and even more determined to report on what she saw with a new foreword by the author about what has happened in yemen since the book s initial publication don t be afraid of the bullets is a fascinating and important debut by a talented young journalist poetry has long dominated the cultural landscape of modern iraq simultaneously representing the literary pinnacle of high culture and giving voice to the popular discourses of mass culture as the favored genre of culture expression for religious clerics nationalist politicians leftist dissidents and avant garde intellectuals poetry critically shaped the social political and cultural debates that consumed the iraqi public sphere in the twentieth century the popularity of poetry in modern iraq however made it a dangerous practice that carried serious political consequences and grave risks to dissident poets the dangers of poetry is the first book to narrate the social history of poetry in the modern middle east moving beyond the analysis of poems as literary and intellectual texts kevin m jones shows how poems functioned as social acts that critically shaped the cultural politics of revolutionary iraq he narrates the history of three generations of iraqi poets who navigated the fraught relationship between culture and politics in pursuit of their own ambitions and agendas through this historical analysis of thousands of poems published in newspapers recited in popular demonstrations and disseminated in secret whispers this book reveals the overlooked contribution of these poets to the spirit of rebellion in modern iraq

the colonial encounter between france and morocco in the late nineteenth century took place not only in the political realm but also in the realm of medicine because the body politic and the physical body are intimately linked french efforts to colonize morocco took place in and through the body starting from this original premise medicine and the saints traces a history of colonial embodiment in morocco through a series of medical encounters between the islamic sultanate of morocco and the republic of france from 1877 to 1956 drawing on a wealth of primary sources in both french and arabic ellen amster investigates the positivist ambitions of french colonial doctors sociologists philologists and historians the social history of the encounters and transformations occasioned by french medical interventions and the ways in which moroccan nationalists ultimately appropriated a french model of modernity to invent the independent nation state each chapter of the book addresses a different problem in the history of medicine international espionage and a doctor s murder disease and revolt in moroccan cities a battle for authority between doctors and muslim midwives and the search for national identity in the welfare state this research reveals how moroccans ingested and digested french science and used it to create a nationalist movement and islamist politics and to understand disease and health in the colonial encounter the muslim body became a seat of subjectivity the place from which individuals contested and redefined the political

the historical dictionary of iraq begins with the earliest civilizations and covers the many periods that followed ranging from the history of ancient mesopotamia to the abbasid empire to present day iraq included are a historical overview a country profile a review of the economy oil fauna and political institution coverage of the iran iraq war and coverage of the kuwait invasion and the second gulf war and other conflicts the major ethnic groups such as the kurds the turkumans and the assyrians islam and muslim sects christianity and christian sects as well as other religious groups are profiled dictionary entries also highlight the main political religious and ideological parties groups and organizations major historical personalities languages literature and cultural elements a broad range of topics both ancient and modern are dealt with throughout the introduction and the dictionary and a comprehensive bibliography complements this extensive historical reference authors efraim karsh and inari rautsi experts on middle east history and politics have combined their expertise to write what is largely considered the definitive work of one of the world s most reviled and notorious figures drawing on a wealth of iraqi arab western and israeli sources including interviews with people who have had close contact with saddam hussein throughout his career the authors trace the meteoric transformation of an ardent nationalist and obscure ba th party member into an absolute dictator skillfully interweaving a realistic analysis of gulf politics and history and now including a new introduction and epilogue this authoritative biography is essential for understanding the mind of a modern tyrant post revolution states often find that once dictators have been deposed other problems arise such as political polarization and the threat of civil war a respected commentator on middle eastern politics ibrahim fraihat examines three countries grappling with political transitions in the wake of the arab spring yemen libya and tunisia drawing on extensive research and interviews fraihat argues that to attain enduring peace and stability post revolution states must engage in inclusive national reconciliation processes with the support of women civil society and tribes this atlas depicts and describes catheter based interventions across the entire pediatric age range from fetal life through to early adulthood with the aim of providing an illustrated step by step guide that will help the reader to master these techniques and apply them in everyday practice clear instruction is offered on a wide range of procedures including vascular access fetal interventions valve dilatation angioplasty stent implantation defect closure defect creation valve implantation hybrid approaches and other miscellaneous procedures the atlas complements the previously published handbook cardiac catheterization for congenital heart disease by presenting a wealth of photographs images and drawings selected or designed to facilitate the planning performance and evaluation of diagnostic and interventional procedures in the field of congenital heart disease it will assist in the safe efficient performance of these procedures in decision making and in the recognition and treatment of complications the dramatic uprisings that ousted the long standing leaders of several countries in the arab region set in motion an unprecedented period of social political and legal transformation the prosecution of political leaders took centre stage in the pursuit of transitional justice following the arab spring through a comparative case study of egypt libya tunisia and yemen this book argues that transitional justice in the arab region presents the strongest challenge yet to the transitional justice paradigm this paradigm is built on the underlying assumption that transitions constitute a shift from non liberal to liberal democratic regimes where often legal measures are taken to address atrocities committed during the prior regime the book is guided by two principal questions first what trigger and driving factors led to the decision of whether or not to prosecute former political leaders and second what shaping factors affected the content and extent of decisions regarding prosecution in answering these questions the book enhances our understanding of how transitional justice is pursued by different actors in varied contexts in doing so it challenges the predominant understanding that transitional justice uniformly occurs in liberalising contexts and calls for a re thinking of transitional justice theory and practice using original findings generated from almost 50 interviews across 4 countries this research builds on the growing critical literature that claims that transitional justice is an under theorised field and needs to be developed to take into account non liberal and complex transitions it will be stimulating and thought provoking reading for all those interested in transitional justice and the arab spring nabeel's song is an epic true story of one family's experience of life before, during, and after the regime of Saddam Hussein. Nabeel Yasin had an ordinary childhood in a middle-class neighbourhood in 1950s Baghdad. He showed an early gift for poetry and as a young man became famous for it. But by the end of the 1970s, Saddam's rise to power was encroaching on his life and that of his family. Nabeel's brothers were arrested and he himself was denounced as an enemy of the state and fled Iraq in 1980. Nabeel's song tells his story and that of the family that he left behind: his matriarch, a mother, Sabria, his four brothers, and their rebellion against Saddam's regime, and his two sisters, all ordinary people living in extraordinary and difficult times. This is a moving family story of exile and endurance. J. O'Tatchell's moving narrative from Nabeel's mouth tells of endurance, literary resistance, and the courage of a loving, close-knit family oppressed by tyranny and war. The Times

Covering 60 years of materials, this bibliography cites translations, studies, and other writings which represent Iraq's national literature, including recent works of numerous Iraqi writers living in Western exile. The volume serves as a guide to three interrelated data: translations that have appeared since 1950 as books or as individual items (poems, short stories, novel extracts, plays, diaries in print and non-print publications in Iraq and other Arab and English-speaking countries including Australia, Canada, the United Kingdom, and the United States); relevant studies and other secondary sources including selected reviews and author interviews which cover Iraqi literature and writers; and the scope of displacement or dispersion of Iraqi writers, artists, and other intellectuals who have been uprooted and are now living in exile in Arab or other Western countries. By drawing attention to a largely overlooked but relevant and extensive literature accessible in English, this first of its kind book will serve as an invaluable guide to students of contemporary Iraq, modern Arabic literature, and other fields such as women's studies, postcolonial studies, Third World literature, American Arab-Muslim relations, and diaspora studies.

Intergenerational relations, contemporary theories, studies, and policies concentrate on actual discussions around various aspects of interactions that occur between people from different age groups and generations. The authors present studies related to four sets of challenges crucial for relationships between children, young adults, middle-aged adults, and older adults. These challenges include social and cultural challenges, economic and technological challenges, environmental challenges, and political and legal challenges. The volume also addresses issues important for the global, national, regional, and local application and performance of intergenerational solutions, projects, and programs focused on achieving the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). The collection includes chapters encompassing research and practical recommendations from various disciplines such as demography, economics, ethics, management, gerontology, public health, pedagogy, social work, political science, and sociology. This book is an asset to academic and professional communities interested in theories of intergenerational relationships as well as public services and age-related policies. Moreover, the volume is a useful resource to help students, practitioners, and people working in government, business, and nonprofit organizations build positive and harmonious interactions between generations this volume examines the role of arab women in arab spring and their contribution to the ongoing process of change sweeping the region the book begins with an examination of the process of democratization and its impediments in the arab world since the second world war it then looks at the conditions that led to the upsurge of the so called arab spring finally it underscores women s role as participants organizers leaders but also as victims the main thesis of the book is that while arab women were an integral part of the revolutionary efforts within the arab spring paradigm they did not benefit from their sacrifices although they continue to be part of the process of change their gains rights and scope for participation are still limited if the expansion of women s participation and the scope of their rights do not seem to be a priority for revolutionary forces women have made remarkable achievements especially in some arab spring countries such as yemen and libya the book includes case studies of some arab spring countries and other countries influenced by developments egypt bahrain kuwait libya yemen algeria jordan morocco and saudi arabia it calls on revolutionary and reformist forces to give special attention to issues related to arab women as they are an indispensable pillar in the process of reform development peace and stability in the middle east the main aim of this volume is to explore the continuity of portuguese moroccan relations before and especially after the classic period of the 11th 16th centuries its title entangled peripheries is a conceptual attempt to account for the contradiction between the resilience of bilateral contacts and exchanges and its decreasing relevance for both sides of the strait of gibraltar although most chapters focus on topics of the 18th 20th centuries the contributions dealing with the medieval and early modern periods provide a long durée perspective typical of entangled history other distinctive elements of this historiographical current are also present such as the circulations and networks of people and objects and the supranational and regional actors and processes which help situate portugal and morocco as peripheries the volume is divided in three sections marginal circulations facts histories fictions and beyond nationalism and colonialism the first one presents case studies of displacements of ethnically or socially marginal groups between morocco and portugal between the 15th and the 20th centuries the last section s examines how regional imperial and global processes far outweighed bilateral relations across the strait of gibraltar both before and after the classic period of the 11th 16th centuries finally the middle section of this volume engages with the entangled peripheries approach not literally as the other two but in a meta sense by focusing on historical sources historiography and historical fiction
