in the 1980s a romanian family accompanied by their dog defects to greece where they are accommodated in a refugee camp exhilarating absurd or saddening surprises meet them at every turn when during their wait for canadian immigrant visas they mingle with refugees from the communist bloc afghanistan and turkey not everyone has the same reason for being there but camp mates of the same mind gather around drinks and there is talk of hope and love hatred and betrayal heroism and sacrific es these cathartic tales unfold against the background of one of the cruelest periods of history an examination of the relationship between imperial collapse the emergence of successor nationalism the exclusion of ethnic groups and the refugee experience written by both established authorities and younger scholars this book offers a unique international comparative approach to the study of refugees at the end of empire based on a popular course for the fema higher education project preparedness and response for catastrophic disasters provides important insight into plans to mitigate and respond to the devastation caused by large scale catastrophic events hurricane katrina provided clear evidence that these occurrences are both qualitatively and quantitatively different from other disasters recent tragedies like the 2004 south asia tsunami the 2010 earthquake in haiti and the 2011 earthquake tsunami and resulting nuclear plant meltdown in japan further illustrate that we are not prepared for such events written by top disaster scholars and practitioners the book defines what constitutes a catastrophic event outlining both the factors that can lead to catastrophes and the unique logistical planning and response challenges posed by them distinct from general disasters these events are termed catastrophic due to the regional impact impacts to logistics and infrastructure the devastating effects on large scale populations and the ripple effects on regional and global economies preparedness and response for catastrophic disasters examines why catastrophes must be approached differently if governments public administrators and emergency management professionals are to succeed in protecting our populations there must be consensus decisiveness and leadership in both the coordination and response in addition there must be a fundamental recognition that catastrophic events compromise the very infrastructure public utilities delivery of goods and service schools business functions and government that supports communities and upon which modern society is based as such the book explores how catastrophes can dramatically affect populations and addresses new innovative and fundamentally unique strategies communities can institute to better prepare populations for catastrophic events and their aftermath from the years leading up to the first world war to the aftermath of the second europe experienced an era of genocide as well as the holocaust this period also witnessed the armenian genocide in 1915 mass killings in bolshevik and stalinist russia and a host of further ethnic cleansings in anatolia the balkans and eastern europe crisis of genocide seeks to integrate these genocidal events into a single coherent history over two volumes mark levene demonstrates how the relationship between geography nation and power came to play a key role in the emergence of genocide in a collapsed or collapsing european imperial zone the rimlands and how the continuing geopolitical contest for control of these eastern european or near european regions destabilised relationships between diverse and multifaceted ethnic communities who traditionally had lived side by side an emergent pattern of toxicity can also be seen in the struggles for regional dominance as pursued by post imperial states nation states and would be states volume i devastation covers the period from 1912 to 1938 it is divided into two parts the first associated with the prelude to actuality of and aftermath of the great war and imperial collapse the second the period of provisional new europe reformulation as well as post imperial stalinist nazi and kemalist consolidation up to 1938 levene also explores the crystallisation of truly toxic anti jewish hostilities the implication being that the immediate origins of the jewish genocides in the second world war are to be found in the first technological development has not only provided mankind with more prosperity but with increased destructive power as well these developments combined with an explosive growth of the world population have led to mass casualty situations varying from traffic accidents to war in the 20th century over 200 million people were killed as a result of man made disasters a figure unequalled in the history of mankind it is not surprising therefore that a new medical discipline has emerged disaster medicine the realization that disasters have effects which cross the traditional boundaries of medical specialisms and nationality led to the foundation of the international society of disaster medicine isdm which issued an international curriculum on education and training in disaster medicine as a logical consequence the isdm decided to develop its curriculum into a handbook now available to the global community of disaster medicine specialists this handbook of disaster medicine contains contributions from international experts in the field and will be of value and interest to a wide variety of professionals in the discipline of disaster medicine and management this volume addresses the complexities involved in attending to the mental health of refugees it covers theory and research as well as clinical and field applications emphasising the psychotherapeutic perspective it explores the delicate balance between accepting the resilience of refugees whilst not neglecting their psychological needs within a framework that avoids pathologising their condition moreover it deals with the difficulties in delineating the various relevant intersecting perspectives to the refugee reality e g psychological socio political legal organisational and ethical the book introduces important considerations about the actual psychotherapy with refugees in individual family and group settings but in addition it encourages the introduction of therapeutic elements to all types of work with refugees thus it argues for the necessity of approaching every facet of the refugee experience from a therapeutic perspective this is why the title refers to therapeutic care rather than to psychotherapy historic refugee flows examines the recurring global issue of forced migration throughout history diving into the reasons why people abandon their homes and the consequences of such displacement by analyzing historical records and humanitarian research the book identifies patterns in refugee crises highlighting that political instability economic inequality and social discrimination are consistent underlying causes for example while specific events like the armenian and rwandan genocides triggered displacement these deeper factors were always present the book explores the root causes of refugee flows the experiences of refugees and the long term impacts on both refugees and host societies beginning with key concepts and definitions the book progresses through major historical periods with detailed case studies culminating in a discussion of current challenges in refugee protection its comparative approach distinguishes it by examining refugee movements across time and geography to identify recurring patterns moving beyond descriptive accounts to provide an analytical framework while using personal narratives to humanize the historical analysis ultimately historic refugee flows provides insights for policymakers and humanitarian actors by understanding the historical roots of displacement this understanding allows for more effective prevention strategies improved humanitarian responses and lasting solutions for refugees and host communities it also connects to fields like political science sociology and economics to give a more complete perspective on forced migration by examining the ways in which museums involve refugees and asylum seekers changes in museum practice new media refugees and participation explores the opportunities around new media leading artists curators and academics come together to outline different degrees of participation by audiences and communities and explore a range of topics from video games to theatre from photography to participatory video and digital storytelling case studies are used throughout to highlight the unique ways that various approaches to inclusion and participation can be used successfully book jacket across time that shows how our biology has determined human history for the first time this book will change how you see the world we re a wonder of evolution capable of incredible feats but we re also deeply flawed our bodies and minds often break fail and hinder us to be human is to live with this extraordinary contradiction so to understand the course humanity has taken from prehistoric times through the age of empire and into the modern era we must understand who and what we are being human is history made flesh from the epidemic that brought europe s peasants freedom to the health deficiency which gave rise to the world s largest criminal organisation to the cognitive biases that led to military catastrophes in crimea and iraq we see how our unique nature shaped our relationships economies and societies and importantly how it continues to impact human progress today this book is quite literally wonderful ed conway a wild ride tim harford a gripping red blooded narrative from a master storyteller jo marchant the author offers an interdisciplinary examination of the german speaking exile experience in great britain from the beginnings of the nazi regime to the end of the second world war the book examines the contingencies of cultural production for german and austrian exiles against the historical context of british immigration and internment policies by investigating the influence and manipulation of trends in popular british culture in the english language exile fiction by ernest borneman robert neumann ruth feiner lilo linke and george tabori the author illustrates how a suspect minority voiced their socio political concerns in the dominant culture and presents a strong case for the facilities of polylingualism in literature the book reconstructs biographical and cultural histories of authors whose remarkable success as english language writers may otherwise risk lingering in obscurity since the author traces the interaction of historical events and the personal experience of a range of writers themes of gender based national and religious identities are addressed flexible and accessible the book extracts meaning from the politics of popular culture and cultural exchange in the twentieth century during a period of nationalism acute jingoism and war political refugee flux explores the complex world of political refugees examining the root causes and consequences of forced migration the book delves into why individuals risk everything to seek political asylum often driven by state sponsored violence and the erosion of human rights it highlights how refugee movements challenge national sovereignty international cooperation and human empathy offering a comprehensive look at this critical issue the book uniquely combines macro level political analysis with the lived experiences of refugees providing a nuanced understanding of their journeys and the challenges they face integrating into new societies beginning with post world war ii displacement and moving through contemporary crises in the middle east africa and latin america the book traces the evolution of international refugee law and the roles of organizations like the unhcr it further examines the effectiveness of current international legal and policy frameworks while advocating for improved conflict resolution and humane integration policies in highlighting how a public health approach has been successfully used in developing countries to provide HIV/AIDS patients with antiretroviral therapy (ART). This important book provides a template for how the PHA can be implemented to treat other chronic but non-communicable diseases (NCDs) as well with over 28 million people globally now receiving treatment for HIV/AIDS. It is clear there are lessons to be learnt from the provision of ART which have great relevance for NCD care and towards achieving universal health coverage in the global south. The first section of the book provides a detailed overview of the strategy that enabled such a successful programme to be taken place, the challenges faced and its evolution over time. The book then moves on to assert that by approaching other chronic NCDs in a similar way, focussing on populations with integrated long-term and short-term person-centred care, there is a pathway towards universal health care and universal health coverage across the developing world. Discussing many of the most pressing diseases and public health issues affecting these regions, this book provides global health scholars and practitioners with a detailed analysis of the challenges faced in tackling these diseases but also an integrated person-centred health care approach by which these challenges may be met.

A deeply compelling and poignant story about the tragic lessons of war and the endurance of memory. In the last months of World War II, a man wakes in a field in a country he does not know, injured and with only flashes of memory coming back to him. He pulls himself to his feet and starts to walk, setting out on an extraordinary journey in search of his home. His past and himself, his name is Owen. A war he has only a vague recollection of joining in its dying days, and as he tries to get back to England, he becomes caught up in the flood of rootless people pouring through Europe. Among them is a teenage boy, and together they form an unlikely alliance as they cross battle-worn Germany. When they meet a troubled young woman, tempers flare and scars are revealed as Owen gathers up the shattered pieces of his life. No one is as he remembers, not even himself. How can he truly return home when he hardly recalls what home is?

By far the best study of Britain and the First World War that has yet been written. London Review of Books. The Myriad Faces of War, first published in 1987, is a unique and compelling study of the First World War from the standpoint of British involvement. It explores the reasons for Britain's entry into the war, the nature and course of Britain's participation, and the far-reaching repercussions of the war on British society. The result is a rich and comprehensive chronicle of the social, political, diplomatic, and military aspects of the Great War. Professor Trevor Wilson's mighty work on the First World War is a truly significant contribution to our understanding of what the war meant to the British people. A disciplined, unsentimental, and thoughtful book, and it also retains strongly the human touch. Spectator. Wilson ranges impressively over all major aspects of the conflict, a judicious, readable overview of a monster subject. New York Times.

how climate propaganda narratives shape our mis understanding of the world and how to propagate a future of repair and regeneration instead in climate propagandas jonas staal reveals the propaganda narratives and the divergent realities they evoke that shape the climate crisis in the public imaginary it is often said that the climate crisis is a planetary one but the devastating impact of climate crisis is distributed unequally and its related ideological positions are as vast as they are irreconcilable a liberal might argue the crisis is the result of individual consumer behavior whereas a libertarian sees an opportunity for geoengineering markets a conspiracist might not believe the climate is at risk whereas an ecofascist sees a chance to double down on the argument about who has the superior racial right to survive extinction with an artist s eye and an activist s sense of urgency staal explores how these stories are told and visualized through popular film and television internet culture climate fiction art architecture and industrial design if life threatening propaganda narratives have conjured our present climate catastrophe staal suggests then surely stories of regeneration can propagate new planetary futures for all his book identifies narratives that don t follow the path of mass extinction but rather seek repair and regeneration of a world in crisis on september 30 1991 haiti s first democratically elected president jean bertrand aristide was overthrown by a coup d etat the haitian political crisis which was marked by intense international pressure for political negotiation triggered a stream of refugees bound foremost for the united states the us coast guard began detaining interdicted haitians at the us naval base at Guantanamo Bay Cuba as well as forcibly returning a certain number to the haitian capital what was the role played by the haitian diaspora in the us as the haitian crisis unfolded until aristide s reinstatement in october 1994 this study investigates how this process of intervention was shaped by socially constructed categories such as nation race ethnicity and class what would the israeli palestinian conflict look like today if the roman emperor hadrian hadn t changed the name of the roman province of judaea to syria palaestina in 136 ad the answer is indisputable there would be no israeli palestinian conflict because there wouldn't be a people group called palestinians the only reason why the arabs who lived in the land started calling themselves palestinians in the mid 1800s was because the land had been called palestine since roman times by the empires that occupied it but prior to the third jewish roman war 132 136 ad it was called judea where millions of jews lived even in the 1st century ad a millennia after the israelites founded israel jews were the majority with estimates ranging from 1.5 million to 2.3 million how many palestinians lived in the land none there was no people group called palestinians in the 1st century ad that's why maps like the one on the front cover that circulate widely on social media are nothing less than pseudo scholarly there was no palestinian loss of land because palestine was never the country of the palestinians simply because hadrian renamed the jewish nation of judea to palestine in 136 ad is irrelevant and meaningless since the jews are the indigenous people of the land because they were there first it means the land belongs to the jews just because a people group the jews in this case were a minority ever since the romans expelled them from their country does not nullify their rights as the indigenous people of the land the palestinians will never understand this inherent truth in trump america's first zionist president the author investigates trump's endgame with israel and trump's deep relationship with christian zionists during the redox 2019 election israeli prime minister benjamin netanyahu proclaimed soon the plan of the century will be presented by my close friend president trump and the negotiations with president trump will shape the future of israel for generations to come and because of this israel needs a strong and stable and zionist government a government that is committed to israel as a national state for the jewish people trump's daughter ivanka trump converted to judaism in 2009 in order to marry jared kushner an orthodox jew from a prominent american jewish family with close ties to israeli prime minister benjamin netanyahu kushner would become a senior advisor to president trump and influenced trump's decisions to move the us embassy to jerusalem and to withdraw from the iran nuclear deal two things israel vehemently wanted but does kushner's influence alone explain trump's all out pro israeli policies after all trump's foreign policy decisions pertaining to israel upends a half century of us policy to really understand zionism one must understand the israeli palestinian conflict therefore the author examines the history of the israeli palestinian conflict in order to understand what the root causes really are is israel right when it insists the land belongs to the jewish people or do the palestinians really have a rightful claim to a state and why does the united nations invariably support the palestinians

this book contains assessment of the progress or the lack of it in implementing the un sustainable development goals sdgs through review of the assessments and of case studies readers can draw lessons from the actions that could work to positively address the goals the 2030 agenda for sustainable development is designed to catalyze action in critical areas of importance to humanity and the planet the effort to implement the sdgs however demands a sense of urgency in the face of environmental degradation climate change emerging conflicts and growing inequality among a number of other socio economic problems five years after the launch of the 2030 agenda this book takes stock of how far the world has come and how we can position ourselves to achieve the global targets the book is one of the first to assess how the implementation is impeded by the onset of covid 19 it contains a special chapter on covid 19 and the sdgs while many thematic chapters on different sdgs also assess how covid 19 adversely affects implementation and what measures could be taken to minimize the adverse effects this publication thus provides a fresh look at implementation of the sdgs highlighting impactful and creative actions that go beyond the business as usual development efforts the volume reinforces this analysis with expert recommendations on how to support implementation efforts and achieve the sdgs through international and national strategies and the involvement of both the public and private sectors the result is an indispensable textual tool for policy makers academia intergovernmental organizations igos and non governmental organizations ngos as well as the public as we march toward the 2030 deadline eighteen years after the genocide that made rwanda international news but left it all but abandoned by the west the country has achieved a miraculous turnaround rising out of the complete devastation of a failed state rwanda has emerged on the world stage yet again this time with a unique model for governance and economic development under the leadership of its strong and decisive president paul kagame here patricia crisafulli andrea redmond look at kagame s leadership his drive for excellence and execution that draws comparisons to an american ceo and emphasizes the development of a sophisticated and competitive workforce that leverages human capital in rwanda the ultimate turnaround strong and effective leadership has made a measurable and meaningful difference rwanda s progress offers an example for other developing nations to lift themselves out of poverty without heavy reliance on foreign aid through decentralization accountability self determination and self sufficiency the authors also explore rwanda s journey toward its goal of becoming a middle income nation with a technology based economy and its progress to encourage private sector development and foster entrepreneurship while also making gains in education healthcare and food security and all with a strong underpinning of reconciliation and unification as so many nations stand on the brink of political and economic revolution this is a timely and fascinating look at the implications of rwanda s success for the rest of the continent and the world
