giving rise to anxiety and public debate simultaneously however other arab women are unwillingly finding themselves labeled bad as authority figures attempt to redirect scrutiny from serious social ills such as patriarchy and economic exploitation or as they impose new restrictions on women s behavior in response to uncertainty and change in society bad girls of the arab world elucidates how both intentional and unintentional transgressions make manifest the social and cultural constructs that define proper and improper behavior as well as the social and political policing of gender racial and class divisions the works collected here address the experiences of women from a range of ages classes and educational backgrounds who live in the arab world and beyond they include short pieces in which the women themselves reflect on their experiences with transgression academic articles about performance representation activism history and social conditions an artistic intervention and afterwords by the acclaimed novelists laila al atrash and miral al tahawy the book demonstrates that women s transgression is both an agent and a symptom of change a site of both resistance and repression showing how transnational forces such as media discourses mobility and confinement globalization and neoliberalism as well as the legacy of colonialism shape women s badness bad girls of the arab world offers a rich portrait of women s varied experiences at the boundaries of propriety in the twenty first century reham elmorally draws upon sylvia walby s six structures of patriarchy tailored for the egyptian context to dissect how this patriarchal construct has historically suppressed and exploited women the first book to trace the female pioneers of arab documentary filmmaking in spite of harsh censorship conservative morals and a lack of investment women documentarists in the arab world have found ways to subtly negotiate dissidence in their films something that is becoming more apparent since the arab revolutions in this book stefanie van de peer traces the very beginnings of arab women making documentaries in the middle east and north africa mena from the 1970s and 1980s in egypt and lebanon to the 1990s and 2000s in morocco and syria supporting a historical overview of the documentary form in the arab world with a series of in depth case studies van de peer looks at the work of pioneering figures like ateyyat el abnoudy the egyptian documentary tunisias selma baccar and the palestinian filmmaker mai masri addressing the context of the films production distribution and exhibition the book also asks why these women held on to the ideals of a type of filmmaking that was unlikely to be accepted by the censor and looks at precisely how the women documentarists managed to frame expressions of dissent with the tools available to the documentary maker case studies include egypt s ateyyat el abnoudy lebanon s jocelyne saab algeria s assia djebartunisia s selma baccar palestine s mai masri morocco s izza ga c nini syria s hala alabdallah yakoub this collection of essays challenges the traditional patriarchal approach to sacred literature by highlighting gender parity in sacred texts and envisioning the rise of the matriarchy in the future the authors redefine biblical greek words like malakoi and arsenokoitai used in condemnation of homosexuality and quranic words like darajah and qawwamun used for establishing patriarchy one author reexamines the role of the nepalese teej festival of fasting and worship of the god shiva in promoting male hegemony in hinduism other papers examine passages like proverbs 31 1 31 the stories of sarah and rahab in the bible the role of mary in the qur an and the dharmic conversion in chapter 27 of the lotus sutra this book makes it clear that sacred literature is subject to human understanding as it evolves through space and time today as more women are educated and actively engaged in political economic and social life religions are challenged to redefine gender roles and norms

The clock had started ticking for Sadika from the day she was born into her traditional Pakistani village family she must be married off to somebody while she is still a teenager or she will be considered a hopeless failure carefully planned marriages are a long tradition in Pakistan as they are throughout South Asia where women have little social status and fewer individual rights and much of their value is measured by how good of a marriage can be arranged for them Sadika must be married off first because she is the eldest of three daughters it would be a disgrace an indelible stigma if a younger daughter was married first the enormous tension that accompanies this ancient ritual makes Sadika's way at once a very funny and instructive work of fiction we watch as mothers vie with each other on their daughters behalf for the affections of the most eligible males we see them in their homes and listen to their conversations as they boast to each other about their daughters qualities real and imagined the infighting gets intense even downright nasty all fed by the desperation that grows quite naturally out of a system that literally holds the fate of women in its hands Sadika's coming of age and final protocol is the first volume in the devices trilogy read more at devicestrilogy.wordpress.com a violently erudite genre mash up by a very clever man indeed paul magrs never the bride enter wildthyme philip purser hallard is a master craftsman his stories are both cleverly constructed and wrought in the sharpest prose and he is always a joy to read not to be missed george mann purser hallard takes urban fantasy back from fey vampires and rugged werewolves and puts it firmly back where it belongs rooted deep in the myths and legends of old britain he combines a startlingly original premise with some bloody good story telling i'm in for the long run and you should be too simon morden philip k dick award winner the samuil petrovich trilogy in the first book to address the critical role of the undressed body in the formation of the modern middle east these essays unveil contemporary struggles over nation gender modernity and post modernity contributions from leading interdisciplinary scholars exploring gender representation photography dress and visual culture recount the role of the visible elite body in campaigns for gender and social emancipation dress histories concerning early nationalist women and men and legal frameworks used by those who seek to control the movement of gendered bodies the result is a rich picture of a historical period and cultural landscape which brings dress and visual culture back into historical narratives of the modern middle east recognising multiple modernities multiple imperialisms and diverse regional experiences of post colonialism fashioning the modern middle east contains a range of theoretical frameworks invaluable to students of fashion studies middle eastern studies anthropology photography and gender bringing forward new primary material and re investigating extant sources from new perspectives this is the essential introduction to the role of the dressed and undressed body in the formation of the modern middle east the book covers the history of the sabra and shatila massacre which took place over three bloody days in the lebanese capital beirut it was committed against palestinian refugees by lebanese militias aided and supervised by the israeli army which had encircled the district now available for the first time in english this classic book is the most comprehensive authoritative account of what happened and who was responsible the author bayan nuwayhed al hout was a professor at the lebanese university at the time driven by the horror of what occurred she interviewed survivors and set up an oral history project immediately after the massacre to preserve testimonies this book is the result following a general introduction the first part contains interviews mainly with victims families the second part analyses statistical data and attempts to determine the number of victims the conclusion who was responsible sheds light on the various parties responsible over five hundred pages long illustrated with photographs and maps unrivalled in detail and scope this book is a courageous attempt to make sense of what happened and an important political document in its own right new york magazine was born in 1968 after a run as an insert of the new york herald tribune and quickly made a place for itself as the trusted resource for readers across the country with award winning writing and photography covering everything from politics and food to theater and fashion the magazine's consistent mission has been to reflect back to its audience the energy and excitement of the city itself while celebrating new york as both a place and an idea
