observation the arabic city is privileged as a focal point because it is the space where the struggles over issues of nation building gender religion and class as well as the patriarchal colonialist zionist and sectarian violence linked to these issues manifest themselves most evidently to this end from damascus to beirut contested cities in arab writing brings together four novels published between 1969 and 1989 which have never been approached from this perspective nor put in this kind of dialogue before ulfat idilbi s damascus ghassan kanafani s haifa ahlam mosteghanemi s constantine and elias khoury s beirut are social and historical products and as such as henri lefebvre maintains are deeply rooted in politics and affected by ideology the cities discussed here in fact display the ebbs and flows of political and social life in their respective countries and in the arab world in general each city stands at a crucial point in the history of the arab world and the way in which they are represented by their respective authors sets the stage for and sometimes even foreshadows an upcoming defeat or disappointment albeit for different reasons damascus haifa constantine and beirut are all expressions of failures either on national political social or economic levels paradoxically however they are also the repositories of their people s hopes and aspirations as well as of their disappointments analysing these novels as such this book will be of particular interest to postcolonial readers and more importantly to english speaking readers who are interested in the study of modern arabic literature its close textual analysis offers the reader new tools not only for understanding themes and narrative techniques pertaining to the arabic novel but also the contemporary political cultural and social issues that produced them could we analyze power sharing through the rear view mirror the politics of lebanon and northern ireland are relevant case studies to answer this question using pierre nora s lieux de memoire scheme of historical memory this book crafts a theory of sites of social interaction ssi and strategies of social cohesion in power sharing institutions ssi and cohesion strategies that increase tensions will cause power sharing failure in the long run and vice versa thus there is a causal link between power sharing and ethnic tensions in divided societies through mechanisms of ssi and cohesion strategies lebanon and northern ireland encode power sharing with different sites of social interaction and cohesion strategies as a reflection of a society s composition and institutional design respectively power sharing implementation provides the missing link in our knowledge of power sharing and ethnic tensions at boston college this work won the 2021 donald s carlisle award for academic excellence in political science this handbook uses a comprehensive study of political institutions social movements and external pressures to offer nuanced study of politics in the middle east foremost scholars on the middle east examine key themes such as political change regional rivalry and authoritarianism making this collection very timely and relevant as an authoritative source most dangerous wars in world history explores the deadliest and most consequential wars that have shaped human civilization covering conflicts from ancient battles to modern wars it examines military strategies technological advancements and their political social and economic repercussions without glorifying war the book provides an objective analysis of warfare s impact on history emphasizing the importance of learning from the past to strive for a more peaceful future this book analyses the palestine liberation organization s plo lebanese era and its aftermath of the changing position of the palestinian nationalist movement in lebanon it presents the plo s efforts to maintain for itself a secure political and military base of operations in lebanon this is the first book to deal with the most crucial case of war and peace in the middle east moshe ma oz examines the history of relations between israel and syria throughout the middle eastern conflict drawing upon a variety of original sources the author discusses still little known episodes in relations between the countries such as syrian peace offers to israel in the early 1950s and the mid 1970s american and soviet involvement the role of iraq jordan lebanon and the plo israel s contribution to the aggravation of the conflict with syria and the new syrian diplomatic strategy since 1988 and the peacemaking process after the madrid conference from late 1991 the book demonstrates the crucial importance of syrian israeli relations for the strategic posture of both countries for the fate of the palestinian problem and for the prospects of an overall middle east settlement conflict and intervention in the middle east are not uncommon occurrences yet when civil strife erupted in lebanon in 1975 the events that followed were unusual indeed unlike most patterns of intervention syria displayed remarkable tactical flexibility by first intervening on behalf of the rebels its traditional allies then shifting its allegiance mid war to the lebanese incumbents also whereas most intervention scenarios end with a process of decommitment syria eventually occupied parts of lebanon to become an enduring military entity there delving into primary syrian and lebanese sources weinberger unravels the history competing factions religion politics and culture of the region and presents an intriguing and complex portrait of intervention by a regional power examines the politics of expertise in the practices of peacemaking in post civil war lebanon based on multi sided ethnographic research centering on beirut but tracing international peace work as far as switzerland and the united states master peace examines the politics of expertise in the application of metropolitan theories of violence and practices of peacemaking in post civil war lebanon through ethnographic encounters archival research and interviews that shed light on the worlds of academic research un agencies ngos and think tanks nikolas kosmatopoulos argues that so called experts from violence researchers to peace professionals have often misrepresented and exacerbated the violence they claim to be tackling through their deployment of racialized tropes of conflict and communalizing peace practices the assemblage of these tropes and practices which kosmatopoulos calls master peace naturalizes social and structural inequalities by collapsing them into supposedly innate cultural and sectarian divisions master peace installs unequal relations of domination through the work of metropolitan theories as in ethnic conflict and failed state and practices such as conflict resolution workshops and crisis reports converting the radical demand for just peace into a postcolonial regime of dependence on technocratic tools unaccountable experts and external donors kosmatopoulos shows how master peace has been framing debates designing interventions of peace and war and defining the problem of violence in lebanon and the middle east for decades to deleterious effect as the supposed moral high ground that justifies external intervention and precludes political solutions or democratic forms of action master peace has obscured the geopolitical and ideological nature of violence in the region substituting democratic notions of peace for an elitist antipolitics of expertise characterized by dependence domination and epistemic violence why do rebel groups frequently clash instead of cooperating against their shared enemy the state this pattern occurs in conflicts around the world yet it flies in the face of common notions of strategic logic weaving together insights from international relations theory and the study of ethnic politics costantino pischedda presents an original theory to unravel the puzzle of inter rebel conflict examining the dynamics of civil wars in iraq ethiopia lebanon sri lanka and syria pischedda argues that infighting is a calculated response by rebel groups to perceived opportunities and vulnerabilities conflicts break out between groups when one sees the potential to eliminate weaker rivals at a low cost or fears the deterioration of its power relative to a competitor and embarks on a desperate gamble counterintuitively pischedda finds that rebels sharing an ethnic identity are especially prone to violent conflict as they see each other as both potential existential threats and enticing opportunities for expansion since coethnic rebels aspire to control the same community their antagonism is stark and immediate in addition insurgents expect to be able to draw on the resources of defeated rivals from the same ethnic group more easily than they could on those of outsiders marshaling a range of data pischedda s mixed methods study features original interviews conducted with former insurgent leaders the first book length examination of inter rebel fighting conflict among rebels sheds new light on a key question of civil war dynamics why the enemy of my enemy is not always my friend this historical study of international middle east politics in regional perspective presents a comprehensive analysis of the interplay between inter arab politics and the conflict with israel the two key issues which have shaped the middle east contemporary history and made it simultaneously tumultuous and a focus of international affairs the decline of the arab israeli conflict addresses the changing political behavior of the regional arab system in the palestine conflict from total enmity to negotiated peace with israel this change is explained as a reflection of state formation process and constant thrust of ruling elites to disengage from compelling supra state commitments stemming from pan arab nationalist ideology and islamic political culture the book scrutinizes the role of arab summit conferences which since 1964 became the main collective arab institution for decision making on common core issues foremost of which was the conflict with israel the summits main role was to legitimize incremental departure from the overburdening palestine conflict whose powerful collective symbolism threatened states autonomy summits consensus sanctioned shifts from hitherto established collective arab norms toward israel as well as on inter arab relations in accordance with core actors interests the summits offer a view to the arab regional system s evolution as a negotiated inter state order based on mutual recognition of sovereign states as opposed to compulsive collectivism in the name of pan arabism they were in fact a manipulation of the regional arab system by primary participants coalitions through employment of financial ideological and political trade offs to resolve inter arab differences and reach a consensus on redefined collective goals
