admirably connects two stories about the criminal legal system that are usually told separately one is that the country that americans live in is safer than it has been for a long time the other story is that for some citizens especially african american men the country that they live in is not free paul butler new york times book review from the late 90s to the mid 2010s american cities experienced an astonishing drop in violent crime dramatically changing urban life in many cases places once characterized by decay and abandonment are now thriving the fear of death by gunshot wound replaced by concern about skyrocketing rents in uneasy peace patrick sharkey the leading young scholar of urban crime and concentrated poverty richard florida author of the rise of the creative class and the new urban crisis reveals the striking effects improved school test scores because children are better able to learn when not traumatized by nearby violence better chances that poor children will rise into the middle class and a marked increase in the life expectancy of african american men some of the forces that brought about safer streets such as the intensive efforts made by local organizations to confront violence in their own communities have been positive sharkey explains but the drop in violent crime has also come at the high cost of aggressive policing and mass incarceration from harlem to south los angeles sharkey draws on original data and textured accounts of neighborhoods across the country to document the most successful proven strategies for combating violent crime and to lay out innovative and necessary approaches to the problem of violence at a time when crime is rising again the issue of police brutality has taken center stage and powerful political forces seek to disinvest in cities the insights in this book are indispensable explains how and when public and non public warnings about future conflicts affect decision making in western states and international organisations these guidelines provide ways for donor governments to honour their commitment to conflict prevention as an integral part of the quest to reduce poverty combines ancient bible prophecies with current events to reveal the signs that serve as a global warning that predicts the end of the world this innovative book sets out to rethink corporate social responsibility csr in global value chains this book questions the conventional wisdom that education builds peace by exploring the ways in which ordinary schooling can contribute to intergroup conflict based on fieldwork and comparative historical analysis of rwanda it argues that from the colonial period to the genocide schooling was a key instrument of the state in contributing to the construction awareness collectivization and inequality of ethnic groups in rwanda all factors that underlay conflict the book further argues that today s post genocide schools are dangerously replicating past trends this book is the first to offer an in depth study of education in rwanda and to analyze its role in the genesis of conflict the book demonstrates that to build peace we cannot simply prescribe more education but must understand who has access to schools how schools are set up and what and how they teach despite the decrease in tension between east and west the world is still faced by many threats to international security a deteriorating environment terrorism drug trafficking humanitarian emergencies serious human rights violations and mass exoduses of populations there is a growing need to devote more attention to how these international security challenges can be dealt with piecemeal approaches and strategies no longer suffice the interaction of security issues and their global nature call for broad and integrated strategies of management and of governance states are now discovering that if they are to protect their own interests they will need to entrust to the international community through the agency of international organizations competences for the protection of the common interest and human welfare the united nations will be called upon to operate an integrated global watch in the environmental military political economic social and humanitarian sectors a system of early warning can prevent potential political conflicts or humanitarian emergencies the present work sheds some light on the principles of international law for the conduct of early warning and preventive diplomacy and shows the urgent need for the establishment of a true global watch the world is now threatened by problems never experienced before in the history of the international community and partnership and cooperation will be crucial if the international security challenges of the future are to be addressed successfully this title was first published in 2000 the continent of africa is undergoing great change while on the one hand there is talk of a re awakening of africa or renaissance various countries in africa are still plagued by poverty intra and interstate violence in some countries the legacy of neo colonialism and under development contributed to social strife and the potential criminalization of the state this book addresses the topic of democratization and sustainable democracy in africa against this background this book examines african americans strategies for resisting white racial violence from the civil war until the assassination of martin luther king jr in 1968 and up to the clinton era christopher waldrep s semi biographical approach to the pioneers in the anti lynching campaign portrays african americans as active participants in the effort to end racial violence rather than as passive victims in telling this more than 100 year old story of violence and resistance waldrep describes how white americans legitimized racial violence after the civil war and how black journalists campaigned against the violence by invoking the constitution and the law as a source of rights he shows how toward the end of the nineteenth century and into the twentieth anti lynching crusaders ida b wells and monroe work adopted a more sociological approach offering statistics and case studies to thwart white claims that a black propensity for crime justified racial violence waldrep describes how the naacp founded in 1909 represented an organized even bureaucratic approach to the fight against lynching despite these efforts racial violence continued after world war ii as racists changed tactics using dynamite more than the rope or the gun waldrep concludes by showing how modern day hate crimes continue the lynching tradition and how the courts and grass roots groups have continued the tradition of resistance to racial violence a rich selection of documents helps give the story a sense of immediacy sources include nineteenth century eyewitness accounts of lynching courtroom testimony of ku klux klan victims south carolina senator ben tillman s 1907 defense of lynching and the text of the first federal hate crimes law the subject of renew your mind childhood abuse and trauma was exceedingly difficult for me to talk about for decades and is still a struggle today even today i feel a bit embarrassed to talk about the things that i survived but it needs to be done for the sake of helping others to survive and overcome childhood abuse and trauma the scope of renew your mind will go into many of the traumatic events but will not go into details because that is not necessary the reader does need to appreciate the level of suffering so they to can appreciate how much the human can survive the aim of renew your mind is to help the reader to experience the depths of my pain that will make you cringe one moment and then cry the next the aim of this book is to help any reader to know that they too can survive and overcome the abuses and trauma be it in their childhood or as an adult even if they are currently within it renew your mind will be the most biblical most transformative christian living book outside of the bible itself regardless of your life struggles you will discover both spiritual and personal growth renew your mind closes the book with chapter 6 s how serious the sin of child abuse is and its far reaching consequences chapter 7 s the truth about sexual assault and chapter 8 s sexual abuse need not be a lifetime of pain the decline of interest in the liberal and fine arts is widely lamented at issue is why this decline happened and how we might restore qualitative standards by which to live arthur pontynen argues that cultural decline is the consequence of a tragically anti intellectual academic tradition and its alternative is the cosmopolitan pursuit of wisdom and beauty pontynen writes that the liberal and fine arts are justified by their attempt to understand the material realization of wisdom of that which is true and good in reality and life the current decline marks a denial that such qualitative aspirations are realistic instead of understanding art as the intellectual pursuit of ontological perfection perfection is subjectified as willful preference or experience consequently the liberal and fine arts have been displaced by a naturalistic social science and a relational existentialism this reduction denies qualitative thoughts words and deeds pontynen establishes that the arts are not obsolete merely subjectivist or limited to a brutal de constructivism he argues for a renewed idealism that is neither reductionist trivializing or brutalized pontynen offers an alternative global narrative that is both realistic and idealistic one that permits us to distinguish between the trivial the brutal and the profound journeys through conflict is the story of the conflict early warning systems cews project of the international social science research council it relates the history of the project presents its empirically grounded approach to anticipating violent conflict and shows how the approach may be extended to other social science research arenas phase analysis of conflict life cycles comparative case studies reconstructed narratives and policy lessons are hallmarks of this pathbreaking work by an international interdisciplinary group of expert conflict analysts journeys through conflict projects alternate pathways to war and peace by a unique coding graphing and computational procedure that takes into account both contested conflict histories and future conflict resolutions in 1994 genocide in rwanda claimed the lives of at least 500 000 tutsi some three quarters of their population while un peacekeepers were withdrawn and the rest of the world stood aside ever since it has been argued that a small military intervention could have prevented most of the killing in the limits of humanitarian intervention alan j kuperman exposes such conventional wisdom as myth combining unprecedented analyses of the genocide s progression and the logistical limitations of humanitarian military intervention kuperman reaches a startling conclusion even if western leaders had ordered an intervention as soon as they became aware of a nationwide genocide in rwanda the intervention forces would have arrived too late to save more than a quarter of the 500 000 tutsi ultimately killed serving as a cautionary message about the limits of humanitarian intervention the book s concluding chapters address lessons for the future examines the labour party s approach to constitutional reforms in historical context and how these have been pursued more to modernize political institutions rather than radically transform them explains the reasons for this constitutional conservatism and the debates which specific reform proposals have prompted in the party this textbook takes a multi perspective approach to the study of conflict management in divided societies the philosophies underpinning constitutional design are clearly explained including power sharing centripetalism power dividing and territorial self governance the actors and processes involved and the practicalities of the settlement process are covered in conceptual and theoretical contributions that include the evolution of diplomacy in peacemaking the book ends with empirical case studies that explore the realities on the ground by specialists drawing on their experience of working in conflict zones
