the assassin paid no heed to his quarry s death throes his attention remained fixed on the long blade in his fist on its pommel of yellowed ivory carved in the shape of a djinni's snarling visage i am al hashishiyya he said to the glittering eyed devil i am death incarnate so am i the devil replied on the banks of the ageless Nile from a palace of gold and lapis lazuli the young caliph rashid al hasan rules as a figurehead over a crumbling empire Cairo is awash in deception in the shadow of the gray mosque generals and emirs jockey for position under the scheming eyes of the powerful grand vizier in the crowded souks and narrow alleys warring factions employ murder and terror to silence their opponents Egypt bleeds and the scent draws her enemies in like sharks the swaggering kurd shirkuh who serves the pious sultan of Damascus and Amalric the christian king of Jerusalem whose greed is insatiable and whose knights are hungry for battle and yet all is not lost there is an old man who lives on a remote mountainside in a distant land he holds the power of life and death over the warring factions of the muslim world and decides to come to the caliph's aid he sends his greatest weapon into Egypt he sends a single man an assassin the one they call the emir of the knife in this lighting paced epic bestselling author scott oden masterfully blends history and adventure in the style of Robert E Howard bringing medieval Cairo the true jewel of the Arabian Nights to exhilarating life full of intrigue and thunderous battle oden resurrects one of the ancient world's most beautiful and beguiling countries the extraordinary tapestry of Cairo's past and present comes vividly to life in this magisterial study by one of the top social historians of the Arab world this deeply observed account shows Cairo from the glimmer of its beginnings in the Arab conquest of Egypt in 640 through its transformation into the modern center of middle eastern life today 63 halftones maps tables unlike the literary atlas of Cairo which focuses on the literary geopolitics of the cityscape this companion volume immerses the reader in the complex network of socioeconomic and cultural lives in the city the seven chapters first introduce the reader to representations of some of Cairo's prominent profiles both political and cultural and their impact on the city's literary geography before presenting a spectrum of readings of the city by its multiethnic multinational and multilingual writers across class gender and generation daunting images of colonial school experiences and startling contrasts of postcolonial educational realities are revealed while cairo s moments of political participation and oppression are illustrated as well as the space accorded to women within the city across history and class the city s marginals are placed on its literary map alongside representations of the relationship between writing and drugs and the places paraphernalia and products of the drug world across class and time the emerging politics of re making cairo s old quarters examines postcolonial planning practices that aimed to modernise cairo s urban spaces the author examines the expanding field of postcolonial urbanism by linking the state s political ideologies and systems of governance with methods of spatial representations that aimed to transform the urban realm in cairo adopting an interdisciplinary approach the study draws on planning history and politics to develop a distinctive account of postcolonial planning in cairo following egypt s 1952 revolution the book widely connects the ideological role of a different type of politicised urbanism practised during the days of nasser sadat and mubarak and the overarching policies institutions and attitudes involved in the visions for re building a new nation in egypt by examining the notion of remaking urban spaces the study interprets the ambitions and powers of state policies for improving the spatial qualities of cairo s old districts since the early 20th century these acts are situated in their spatial political and historical contexts of cairo s heterogeneous old quarters and urban spaces particularly the remaking of one of the city s older quarts named bulaq abul ela established during the ottoman rule in the thirteenth century it therefore writes in a chronological sequence a narrative through time and space connecting various layers of historical and contemporary political phases for remaking bulaq the endeavor is to explain this process from a spatial perspective in terms of the implications and consequences not only on places but also on the people s everyday practices by deeply investigating the problems and consequences the strengths and weaknesses and the state s reliability to achieve the remaking objectives the book reveals evidence that shifting forms of governance had anchored planning practices into a narrow path of creativity and responsive planning the great medieval necropolis of Cairo comprising two main areas that together stretch twelve kilometers from north to south constitutes a major feature of the city's urban landscape with monumental and smaller scale mausolea dating from all eras since early medieval times and boasting some of the finest examples of Mamluk architecture not just in the city but in the region the necropolis is an unparalleled and until now largely undocumented architectural treasure trove in architecture for the dead architect Galila el Kadi and photographer Alain Bonnamy have produced a comprehensive and visually stunning survey of all areas of the necropolis through detailed and painstaking research and remarkable photography in text maps plans and pictures they describe and illustrate the astonishing variety of architectural styles in the necropolis from

Mamluk to Neo Mamluk via Baroque and Neo Pharaonic from the grandest stone buildings with their decorative domes and minarets to the humblest but elaborately decorated wooden structures the book also documents the modern settlement of the necropolis by families creating a space for the living in and among the tombs and architecture for the dead before the time of Napoleon the most ambitious effort to explore and map the Nile was undertaken by the Ottomans as attested by two monumental documents an elaborate map with 475 rubrics and a lengthy travel account both were achieved at about the same time c 1685 and both by the same man Evliya Çelebi's account of his Nile journeys in the tenth volume of his book of travels Seyahatname has been known to the scholarly world since 1938 when that volume was first published the map held in the Vatican library has been studied since at least 1949 numerous new critical editions of both the map and the text have been published over the years each expounding upon the last in an attempt to reach a definitive version the Ottoman explorations of the Nile provides a more accurate translation of the original travel account furthermore the maps themselves are reproduced in greater detail and vivid color and there are more cross references to the text than in any previous edition this volume gives equal weight and attention to the two parts that make up this extraordinary historical document allowing readers to study the map or the text independently while also using each to elucidate and accentuate the details of the other hundreds of thousands of years have had a much more humid climate egypt is primarily a land of deserts and mountains the habitable Nile valley and delta occupying less than 5 percent of the country although the ancient Egyptians lived on only a small fraction of the land they made extensive use of resources from the less hospitable areas exploiting the opportunities and adjusting to the constraints of their physical environment this updated and expanded edition of the geology of Egypt a traveler s handbook describes these features and more providing a guide for the visitor to Egypt interested in learning about its history from a different perspective the author presumes no background in geology or related fields and provides an introduction to the relevant geological concepts presenting examples to illustrate how the country's geological features influenced Egyptian civilization. Most examples are selected from the pharaonic period and Greco-Roman period, though many cases also illustrate how geological factors continue to have an impact on modern Egyptian society. The text is organized as a trip on the Nile from Lake Nasser downstream to the Delta, with chapters devoted to such popular sites as Aswan, Luxor, and Giza. Also covered are the Eastern and Western Deserts, as well as the Sinai Peninsula. Maps, illustrations, fifty color photographs, and an extensive glossary help make a complex but intriguing subject accessible to everyone.

In ten essays authored by an international team of scholars, this volume explores queer readings of Western and Eastern Mediterranean, Europe, Northern Africa, Islam, and Arabic traditions. The contributors enter into a dialogue, comparing cases from opposite sides of the Mediterranean in order to analyze the forgotten exchange of sexualities that was brought forth through the Mediterranean and its bordering landmasses during the Middle Ages. This collection questions the hypothesis that distinct cultures treated sexuality and the other differently. The volume initiates the conversation around queerness and sexuality on these trade routes and problematizes the differences between various Mediterranean cultures in order to argue that through both queerness and sexuality, neighboring civilizations had access to and knowledge of common shared experiences. Contributors are Sahar Amer, Israel Burshatin, Robert I. A. Clark, Denise K. Filos, Ellen Lorraine Friedrich, Edmund Hayes

Gregory S. Hutcheson, Vicente Iledó, Guillem Leyla Rouhi, and Robert S. Sturges.

Siwa is a remote oasis deep in the heart of the Egyptian desert, near the border with Libya. Until an asphalt road was built to the Mediterranean coast in the 1980s, its only links to the outside world were by arduous camel tracks. As a result of this isolation, Siwa developed a unique culture manifested in its crafts of basketry, pottery, and embroidery, and in its styles of costume and silverwork. The most visible and celebrated example of this was the silver jewelry that was worn by women in abundance at weddings and other ceremonies based on conversations with women and men in the oasis. With reference to old texts, this book describes the jewelry and costume at this highpoint of Siwan culture against the backdrop of its date gardens and springs social life and dramatic history it places the women s jewelery costume and embroidery into social perspective and describes how they were used in ceremonies and everyday life and how they were related to their beliefs and attitudes to the world the book also describes how in the second half of the twentieth century the arrival of the road and of television brought drastic change and the oasis was exposed to the styles and fashions of the outside world and how the traditional silver ornaments were gradually replaced by gold this publication aims to investigate the nature of social life in public and urban spaces in the cities of the middle east considering the value of environmental approaches it aims to develop a better understanding of the patterns of social interactions and activities in public places which have been influenced by cultural heritage values sustainable and livable open spaces can help in improving living conditions in cities public spaces are relevant as they satisfy many human needs in public spaces people interact and meet people with different cultures and social backgrounds can communicate and learn from each other in social and spontaneous ways however decision makers tend to forget the value of public spaces especially in the absence of a national regulatory framework in emerging globalized cities the book provides a multi disciplinary approach in reading the characteristics and values of public spaces in the emerging cities of the middle east naturally fractured reservoirs constitute a substantial percentage of remaining hydrocarbon resources they create exploration targets in otherwise impermeable rocks including under explored crystalline basement and they can be used as geological stores for anthropogenic carbon dioxide their complex behaviour during production has traditionally proved difficult to predict causing a large degree of uncertainty in reservoir development the applied study of naturally fractured reservoirs seeks to constrain this uncertainty by developing new understanding and is necessarily a broad integrated interdisciplinary topic this book addresses some of the challenges and advances in knowledge approaches concepts and methods used to characterize the interplay of rock matrix and fracture networks relevant to fluid flow and hydrocarbon recovery topics include describing characterizing and identifying controls on fracture networks from outcrops cores geophysical data digital and numerical models geomechanical influences on reservoir behaviour numerical modelling and simulation of fluid flow and case studies of the exploration and development of carbonate siliciclastic and metamorphic naturally fractured reservoirs an american woman determined to learn the arabic language travels to the middle east to pursue her dream in this witty memoir us weekly the shadda is the key difference between a pigeon hamam and a bathroom hammam be careful our professor advised that you don t ask a waiter excuse me where is the pigeon or conversely order a roasted toilet if you ve ever studied a foreign language you know what happens when you first truly and clearly communicate with another person as zora o neill recalls you feel like a magician if that foreign language is arabic you just might feel like a wizard they say that arabic takes seven years to learn and a lifetime to master o neill had put in her time steeped in grammar tomes and outdated textbooks she faced an increasing certainty that she was not only failing to master arabic but also driving herself crazy she took a decade long hiatus but couldn t shake her fascination with the language or the cultures it had opened up to her so she decided to jump back in this time with a new approach in this book she takes us along on her grand tour through the middle east from egypt to the united arab emirates to lebanon and morocco she s packed her dictionaries her unsinkable sense of humor and her talent for making fast friends of strangers from quiet bougainvillea lined streets to the lively buzz of crowded medinas from families homes to local hotspots she brings a part of the world thousands of miles away right to your door and reminds us that learning another tongue leaves you rich with so much more than words you will travel through countries and across centuries meeting professors and poets revolutionaries nomads and nerds a warm and hilarious book annia ciezadlo author of day of honey her tale of her year of speaking arabic badly is a genial and revealing pleasure the seattle times this book reviews the distribution of soils across egypt their history genesis pollution and management the conservation of egyptian soils soils and their connections to human activities as well as some future soil issues are also highlighted it is well known that soil is the main source for food feed fuel and fiber production accordingly the study of soils is not only a crucial issue but also an urgent task for all nations worldwide due to their important roles in agroecosystems as well as many aspects of our lives soils have direct and indirect functions in the agricultural industrial and medicinal sectors therefore understanding the physical chemical and biological properties of soils as well as soil security have now become emerging issues climate change has a very dangerous dimension in egypt concerning the rising sea level many coastal zones are already threatened by this sea level rise and may ultimately disappear at the same time water shortages and soil pollution represent the main challenges for the egyptian nation generally speaking the environmental challenges that egypt now faces include improving and sustaining soil health soil carbon sequestration wastewater treatment and avoiding the overuse of fertilizers and pesticides therefore this book examines in detail the soils of egypt from various perspectives including their genesis history classification pollution and degradation soil security soil fertility and land uses
