elite configurations of power have influenced the regime's foreign policy regarding the nuclear weapons program and the relations with the united states iran's foreign policy elite factionalism ideology the nuclear weapons program and the united states adds fresh and critical perspectives on scholarly and policy debates on iran's foreign policy the chapters in this book were originally published in the following journals comparative strategy american foreign policy interests and the terrorism law report a ground breaking study of political transformations in non western societies this book applies anthropological sociological and political concepts to the recent history of iran to explore the role played by a ritual theatrical performance ta ziyeh and its symbols on the construction of public mobilisations with particular attention to three formative phases the 1978 79 islamic revolution the 1980 88 iran iraq war and the 2009 green movement the author concentrates on the relations between symbols of the ritual performance and the public sphere to shed light on the ways in which the symbols of ta ziyeh were used to claim political legitimacy thus the book elucidates how symbols and images of a ritual performance can be utilised by tricksters such as political actors and fanatical religious leaders to take advantage of the prolongation of a state of transition within a society and so manipulate the public in order to mobilise crowds and movements to fulfil their own interests and concerns an insightful analysis of political mobilisation explained in terms of a set of interrelated master concepts such as liminality trickster and schismogenesis power legitimacy and the public sphere integrates theoretical empirical and diagnostic perspectives in order to investigate and illustrate links between the public sphere and religious and cultural rituals as such it will appeal to scholars of sociology politics and anthropology with interests in social theory public mobilisations and political transformation commemorating the battle of karbala in which the prophet mohammad s grandson hosayn and seventy two of his family members and supporters were martyred in 680 ce is the central religious observance of shi i islam though much has been written about the rituals that reenact and venerate karbala until now no one has studied women s participation in these observances this collection of original essays by a multidisciplinary team of scholars analyzes the diverse roles that women have played in the karbala rituals as well as the varied ways in which gender coded symbols have been used within religious and political discourses the contributors to this volume consider women as participants in and observers of the karbala rituals in iran iraq lebanon india pakistan and the united states they find that women s experiences in the shi i rituals vary considerably from one community to another based on regional customs personal preferences religious interpretations popular culture and socioeconomic background the authors also examine the gender symbolism within the rituals showing how it reinforces distinctions between the genders while it also highlights the centrality of women to the symbolic repertory of shi ism overall the authors conclude that while shi i rituals and symbols have in some ways been used to restrict women s social roles in other ways they have served to provide women with a sense of independence and empowerment art borders and belonging on home and migration investigates how three associated concepts house home and homeland are represented in contemporary global art the volume brings together essays which explore the conditions of global migration as a process that is always both about departures and homecomings indeed home makings through which the construction of migratory narratives are made possible although centrally concerned with how recent and contemporary works of art can materialize the migratory experience of movement and re settlement the contributions to this book also explore how curating and exhibition practices at both local and global levels can extend and challenge conventional narratives of art borders and belonging a growing number of artists migrate some for better job opportunities and for the experience of different cultures others not by choice but as a consequence of forced displacement caused economic or environmental collapse or by political religious or military destabilization in recent years the theme of migration has emerged as a dominant subject in art and curatorial practices art borders and belonging thus seeks to explore how the migratory experience is generated and displayed through the lens of contemporary art in considering the extent to which the visual arts are intertwined with real life events this text acts as a vehicle of knowledge transfer of cultural perspectives and after a million deaths and twice that number injured after the destruction of much of the infrastructure of iran and iraq disruption of trade throughout the gulf and the involvement of the usa and ussr was the gulf war a pointless exercise a futile conflict which achieved nothing and left the combatants at the end of it all back in exactly the same position from which they started in 1980 in this book first published in 1989 the authors argue that the lack of territorial gain was irrelevant the real advantages won by each side were far more important intangible though they were for iran the channelling of the energies of her people away from domestic concerns meant the continuation of the islamic revolution and
