in 2018 palestinians mark the 70th anniversary of the nakba when over 750 000 people were uprooted and forced to flee their homes in the early days of the israeli palestinian conflict even today the bitterness and trauma of the nakba remains raw and it has become the pivotal event both in the shaping of palestinian identity and in galvanising the resistance to occupation unearthing an unparalleled body of rich oral testimony an oral history of the palestinian nakba tells the story of this epochal event through the voices of the palestinians who lived it uncovering remarkable new insights both into palestinian experiences of the nakba and into the wider dynamics of the ongoing conflict drawing together palestinian accounts from 1948 with those of the present day the book confronts the idea of the nakba as an event consigned to the past instead revealing it to be an ongoing process aimed at the erasure of palestinian memory and history in the process each unique and wide ranging contribution leads the way for new directions in palestinian scholarship a new critical approach to the history of palestine discusses prospects and methods for a comprehensive evidence based history of palestine with a critical use of recent historical archaeological and anthropological methods this history is not an exclusive history but one that is ethnically and culturally inclusive a history of and for all peoples who have lived in palestine after an introductory essay offering a strategy for creating coherence and continuity from the earliest beginnings to the present the volume presents twenty articles from twenty two contributors fifteen of whom are of middle eastern origin or relation split thematically into four parts the volume discusses ideology national identity and chronology in various historiographies of palestine and the legacy of memory and oral history the transient character of ethnicity in palestine and questions regarding the ethical responsibilities of archaeologists and historians to protect the multi ethnic cultural heritage of palestine landscape and memory and the values of community archaeology and bio archaeology and an exploration of the ideology of the land and its influence on palestine s history and heritage the first in a series of books under the auspices of the palestine history and heritage project pahh the volume offers a challenging new departure for writing the history of palestine and israel throughout the ages a new critical approach to the history of palestine explores the diverse history of the region against the backdrop of twentieth century scholarly construction of the history of palestine as a history of a jewish homeland with roots in an ancient biblical israel and examines the implications of this ancient and recent history for archaeology and cultural heritage the book offers a fascinating new perspective for students and academics in the fields of anthropological political cultural and biblical history in the decade following the 1993 oslo peace accords some 100 000 diasporic palestinians returned to the west bank and gaza among them were children and young adults who were born in exile and whose sense of palestinian identity was shaped not by lived experience but rather through the transmission and re creation of memories images and history as a result returning to the homeland that had never actually been their home presented challenges and disappointments for these young palestinians who found their lifeways and values sometimes at odds with those of their new neighbors in the west bank and gaza this original ethnography records the experiences of palestinians born in exile who have emigrated to the palestinian homeland juliane hammer interviews young adults between the ages of 16 and 35 to learn how their palestinian identity has been affected by living in various arab countries or the united states and then moving to the west bank and gaza their responses underscore how much the experience of living outside of palestine has become integral to the palestinian national character even as palestinians maintain an overwhelming sense of belonging to one another as a people the goal of this book is to treat palestine not as a state but as a country which in 1948 was divided to israel the west bank and the gaza strip palestinians live in all these areas and are also dwellers or refugee camps and exilic communities around the world in our eyes they and the country as a whole are part of the history of palestine and therefore are all included here it is a book that regards palestine in the period from 1800 until today as a geographical term which is still valid and relevant therefore it covers different geo political units and states that were established over the year in the country of palestine the late ottoman provinces the british mandate the state israel the west bank and the gaza strip half of palestine population live in exile in refugee camp and diasporic communities they also have a place of honor in this book as the story of zionism and israel is intertwined with that of the palestinians several zionist israeli persons places and events are also included in this book historical dictionary of palestine second edition contains a chronology an introduction and an extensive bibliography the dictionary section has more than 800 cross referenced entries on important personalities as well as aspects of the country s politics economy foreign relations religion and culture this book is an excellent resource for students researchers and anyone wanting to know more about palestine

a fundamental aspect of the conflict between palestinians and israelis is the territorial dispute which began long before the state of israel was established analysing the land tenure system in palestine under the administration of the british mandate this book questions whether and to what extent the land tenure system in palestine facilitated zionist land acquisition the research uses benchmarks elaborated in the guidelines of the united nations human settlements programme as its analytical starting point and looks at the formation and implementation of the land tenure system in palestine it goes on to place the penetration of zionism into the land tenure system within the theoretical context of a colonial settler framework employing information from land registry records located at the jordanian department of lands providing a political historical analysis of the land tenure system from the end of ottoman rule until the end of the british mandate this book will be of interest to scholars and students of middle eastern history imperial and colonial history and middle eastern politics

this 224 page book presents a general overview of the palestinian issue by tracing its historical junctures and its current developments for the reader this will facilitate his comprehension of its overall picture the intertwined factors connected to it at any stage and in a logical sequence up to the present stage this book is of special importance to the group of readers who wish to get a general idea of the palestinian issue or those who do not find time for detailed specialized studies the book is written in a smooth english language and is full of information updated till 2013 all the while retaining a scientific academic and documented wording far from emotional structural discourse in its first chapter the book deals with the background of the palestinian issue until 1918 it reviews palestine s history through the ages its geography its islamic standing and the jews religious and historical claims in palestine up to the emergence of the palestinian issue in modern history in addition to its political developments up to the end of world war i in 1918 the second chapter highlights the period of the british occupation of palestine during 1918 1948 it discusses the development of the zionist project the emergence of the palestinian national movement and the 1936 palestinian revolt as well as the political events that followed up to the 1948 war and its repercussions the third chapter reviews the issue s developments during the period 1948 1967 focusing on the development of the palestinian national movement the birth of fatah movement the establishment of the palestinian liberation organization plo and the war of june 1967 and its repercussions as for the fourth chapter it addresses the period 1967 1987 up to the outbreak of the first intifadah in 1987 shedding light on the emergence of the palestinian national identity the development of the palestinian armed struggle the arab countries role in the palestinian issue and the emergence of the palestinian islamic resistance movement hamas the fifth chapter deals with the period starting with the outbreak of the 1987 intifadah until the failure of the camp david negotiations in 2000 going through the inception of hamas the transition of the plo from armed struggle to peaceful settlement the formation of the palestinian national authority and the developments that israel had witnessed during the same period the last chapter in the book reviews the developments that occurred following the outbreak of al aqsa intifadah in september 2000 and until 2013 it is divided into subjects that include the palestinian resistance the palestinian internal situation the path of the peaceful negotiations jerusalem and the status quo the separation wall and the israeli internal situation this book is an important source for readers seeking to acquaint themselves with the palestinian issue and to become informed of the pertinent facts in a balanced manner it can also serve as an introduction to further studies of the palestinian issue this book seeks to present a comprehensive overview of the palestine issue its historical background as well as its modern and contemporary developments the book in a documented methodical and concise style and in plain language delves into the history of palestine from its early history throughout the islamic era and the background of the emergence of the zionist movement as well as the british occupation of palestine and the founding of israel the book analyzes the various phases of the palestine issue and its developments shedding light on the struggle of the palestinian people their uprisings and revolutions and the role of the palestine liberation organization and its factions as well as the role of the palestinian islamic movements the book places particular emphasis on the first two decades of the twenty first century so that the reader would be able to obtain a clear picture about many of the issues related to the contemporary aspects of the palestinian question the revised and updated edition of the book covers the period up to the year 2021 and contains a large collection of pictures and maps to illustrate its points the book is an important source for readers seeking to acquaint themselves with the palestine issue and to become informed of the pertinent facts in a balanced manner it can also serve as an introduction to further studies of the palestine issue israel and palestine were worlds apart during the pandemic that claimed over five million lives globally while palestinians were forced to adopt crude survival measures and endure economic privations israel was praised as a vaccination world leader this book demonstrates how israel utilized the pandemic to tighten surveillance and control over palestine and the palestinians drawing on theories of settler colonialism and the concept of necropolitics the book is a vital testament to the reality of the israeli settler colonial project today the author uses case studies and interviews with palestinians from the gaza strip hebron kufr aqab and the jalazon refugee camp to understand the lived experiences of palestinians the newest colonial policies are discussed including how israel activated a counter terrorism database that could track citizens and ensure they adhered to lockdown regulations it also shows how israel destroyed palestinian infrastructure essential for water sanitation and hygiene leaving palestinians unable to fight the virus the book shows that for palestinians the pandemic was simply the latest in a long line of national catastrophes in a context where settler colonialism prevails from the refugee camps of the lebanon to the relative prosperity of life in the usa the palestinian diaspora has been dispersed across the world in this pioneering study helena lindholm schulz examines the ways in which palestinian identity has been formed in the diaspora through constant longing for a homeland lost in so doing the author advances the debate on the relationship between diaspora and the creation of national identity as well as on nationalist politics tied to a particular territory but the palestinian diaspora also sheds light on the possibilities opened up by a transnational existence the possibility of new less territorialized identities even in a diaspora as bound to the idea of an idealized homeland as the palestinian members of the diaspora form new lives in new settings and the idea of homeland becomes one important but not the only source of identity ultimately though schulz argues the strong attachment to palestine makes the diaspora crucial in any understandings of how to formulate a viable strategy for peace between israelis and palestinians placing a rights based approach to the israeli palestinian conflict at the centre of discussions over its peaceful resolution this book provides detailed consideration of international law and its application to political issues contributions from leading scholars in their respective fields give an in depth analysis of key issues ranging from security through legal and political frameworks to refugees and jerusalem struggling for time examines how time is used as a mechanism of control by the israeli state and a site of mundane resistance among palestinian agriculture professionals natalia gutkowski unpacks power structures to show how a settler society lays moral claim on indigenous time through agrarian environmental policies science technologies landscapes and bureaucracy shifting the analysis of israel palestine from land and space to time she offers new insight into the operation of power in agrarian environments and develops a contemporary framework to understand land and resource grabs under temporal justifications traveling across both policymaking arenas and palestinian citizens agrarian fields gutkowski follows the multiple ways that state officials agronomists planners environmentalists and agriculturalists use time as a tool of collective agency through investigations of wetland drainage in galilee transformations in olive agriculture sustainable agrarian development and regulation of the shmita biblical commandment the year of release for agricultural fields this work highlights how palestinian citizens agriculture has become a site for the state to settle and mediate time conflicts to justify its existence as struggling for time demonstrates time politics will take on ever greater urgency as societies and governments plan for an uncertain future in our era of climate change the land between the mediterranean sea and the jordan valley has been one of the most disputed territories in history since the establishment of the state of israel in 1948 palestinians and israelis have each sought claim to the national identity of the land through various martial social and scientific tactics but no method has offered as much legitimacy and national controversy as that of the map the politics of maps delves beneath the battlefield to unearth the cartographic strife behind the israel palestine conflict blending science and technology studies sociology and geography with a host of archival material in depth interviews and ethnographies this book explores how the geographical sciences came to be entangled with the politics territorial claim making and nation state building of israel palestine chapters chart the cartographic history of the region from the introduction of western scientific and legal paradigms that seemingly legitimized and depoliticized new land regimes to the rise of new mapping technologies and software that expanded access to cartography into the public sphere maps produced by various sectors like the peace camps or the jewish community enhanced national belonging while others like that of the green line served largely to divide the stories of israel s many boundaries reveal that there is no absolute technocratic solution to boundary making as boundaries continue to be controversial and the israeli palestinian conflict remains intractable and unresolved the politics of maps uses nationally based cartographic discourses to provide insight into the complexity fissures and frictions within internal political debates illuminating the persistent power of the nation state as a framework for forging identities citizens and alliances encompassing history politics and political culture bowker grapples with fundamental issues of palestinian identity in the context of the peace process two prominent israeli liberals argue that for the conflict between israel and the palestinians to end with peace palestinians must come to terms with the fact that there will be no right of return in 1948 seven hundred thousand palestinians were forced out of their homes by the first arab israeli war more than seventy years later most of their houses are long gone but millions of their descendants are still registered as refugees with many living in refugee camps this group unlike countless others that were displaced in the aftermath of world war ii and other conflicts has remained unsettled demanding to settle in the state of israel their belief in a right of return is one of the largest obstacles to successful diplomacy and lasting peace in the region in the war of return adi schwartz and einat wilf both liberal israelis supportive of a two state solution reveal the origins of the idea of a right of return and explain how unrwa the very agency charged with finding a solution for the refugees gave in to palestinian arab and international political pressure to create a permanent refugee problem they argue that this palestinian demand for a right of return has no legal or moral basis and make an impassioned plea for the us the un and the eu to recognize this fact for the good of israelis and palestinians alike a runaway bestseller in israel the first english translation of the war of return is certain to spark lively debate throughout america and abroad sahbaa al barbari s story provides a unique perspective on palestinian experiences before and after the 1948 nakba born and educated in gaza al barbari was an activist in her community when israel occupied the gaza strip in 1967 al barbari and her husband mu in bseiso became refugees stripped of their residency rights and forced to live in exile for the next three decades while in exile moving from lebanon to syria libya kuwait egypt and finally tunisia al barbari held tight to her hope of one day returning to gaza her life speaks volumes about the struggle experienced by millions of disenfranchised palestinians separated from family members and their homeland this is the second book in the women s voices from gaza series which honours women s unique and underrepresented perspectives on the social material and political realities of palestinian life one of the most persistent if vexing issues facing not just theology but also political theory sociology and other disciplines is the ongoing palestinian israeli conflict for theology the problem is especially nettlesome on account of the church s shared history and tradition with the jewish people palestinians including palestinian christians bear the brunt of suffering and dispossession in the current situation yet are burdened even more by christian political appropriation of zionism through an analysis of palestinian refugee mapping practices for returning to their homeland alain epp weaver takes up the troubled issue of palestinian dispossession and argues against the political theology embedded in zionist cartographic practices that refuse and seek to eliminate evidence of co existence instead alain epp weaver offers a political theology of redrawing the territory compatible with a bi national vision for a shared palestinian israeli future the palestinian refugee question resulting from the events surrounding the birth of the state of israel seventy years ago remains one of the largest and most protracted refugee crises of the post wwii era numbering over six million in the middle east alone palestinian refugees status varies considerably according to the state or territory hosting them the un agency assisting them and political circumstances surrounding the israeli palestinian conflict these refugees are naturally associated with despite being foundational to both the experience of the palestinian refugees and the resolution of their plight international law is often side lined in political discussions concerning their fate this compelling new book building on the seminal contribution of the first edition 1998 offers a clear and comprehensive analysis of various areas of international law including refugee law human rights law humanitarian law the law relating to stateless persons principles related to internally displaced persons as well as notions of international criminal law and probes their relevance to the provision of international protection for palestinian refugees and their quest for durable solutions

the second intifada arose in september 2000 the course of the uprising its consequences for the palestinian people and the israeli state and its impact on the future of peace in the middle east are traced here 30 photos palestinian refugees in gaza have lived in camps for five generations experiencing hardship and uncertainty in the absence of official histories oral narratives handed down from generation to generation bear witness to life in palestine before and after the 1948 nakba the catastrophe of dispossession these narratives maintain traditions keep alive names of destroyed villages and record stories of the fight for dignity and freedom the women s voices from gaza series honours women s unique and underrepresented perspectives on the social material and political realities of palestinian life in a white lie the first volume in this series madeeha hafez albatta chronicles her life in gaza and beyond among her remarkable achievements was establishing some of the first schools for refugee children in gaza course syllabi in faculties of education problematizes one of the least researched phenomena in teacher education the design of course syllabi using critical and decolonial approaches this book looks at the struggles that scholars policy makers and educators from a diverse range of countries including australia canada india iran palestine qatar saudi arabia the usa and zambia face as they design course syllabi in higher education settings the chapter authors argue that course syllabi are political constructions representing intense sites of struggles over visions of teacher education and visions of society as such they are deeply immersed in what walter mignolo calls the geopolitics of knowledge authors also show how syllabi have become akin to contractual documents that define relations between instructors and students based on a set of empirically grounded studies that are compared and contrasted the chapters offer a clearer picture of how course syllabi function within distinct socio political economic and historical contexts of practice and teacher education this book analyzes the evolution and cultivation of modern palestinian collective memory and its role in shaping palestinian national identity from its inception in the 1920s to the 2006 palestinian elections for more than thirty years the history of cartography project has charted the course for scholarship on cartography bringing together research from a variety of disciplines on the creation dissemination and use of maps volume 6 cartography in the twentieth century continues this tradition with a groundbreaking survey of the century just ended and a new full color encyclopedic format the twentieth century is a pivotal period in map history the transition from paper to digital formats led to previously unimaginable dynamic and interactive maps geographic information systems radically altered cartographic institutions and reduced the skill required to create maps satellite positioning and mobile communications revolutionized wayfinding mapping evolved as an important tool for coping with complexity organizing knowledge and influencing public opinion in all parts of the globe and at all levels of society volume 6 covers these changes comprehensively while thoroughly demonstrating the far reaching effects of maps on science technology and society and vice versa the lavishly produced volume includes more than five hundred articles accompanied by more than a thousand images hundreds of expert contributors provide both original research often based on their own participation in the developments they describe and interpretations of larger trends in cartography designed for use by both scholars and the general public this definitive volume is a reference work of first resort for all who study and love maps

the israeli palestinian conflict is the longest ongoing hot and cold war of the 20th and 21st centuries it has produced more refugees than any current conflict generating fully one quarter of all refugees worldwide everyone knows that the palestinian israeli conflict is important itself and is also fueling tensions throughout the middle east yet most people shy away from this conflict claiming it is just too complicated to understand this book is written for people who want a point of entry into the conversation it offers both a historic and analytic framework readers whether acting as students parishioners neighbors voters or dinner guests will find in these pages an analysis of the most commonly heard israeli positions and a succinct account of the palestinian voices we seldom hear i argue that human rights standards have never been used as the basis on which the israeli palestinian conflict should be resolved and that only these standards can produce a just and sustainable resolution this book will be useful for classes in middle east studies peace and conflict studies middle east history sociology of race and political science it can be helpful for church groups labor groups or other grass roots organizations committed to social justice and for all readers who wish to be informed about this important topic professor spangler s quest for historical and political understanding takes us on a brave and intimate journey into the consequences of jewish privilege and jewish victimhood the agendas of imperial superpowers and the palestinian struggle for self determination alice rothchild md author of broken promises broken dreams stories of jewish and palestinian trauma and resilience and producer and director of documentary film voices across the divide a sharp poignant well documented dossier that provides readers with all the most needed facts to grasp the conflict and get involved sam bahour co editor of homeland oral histories of palestine and palestinians and business development consultant and activist based in palestine t his one is exceptional it recounts a historical tale it provides theoretical underpinnings it does comparative work it examines all the details and aspects of ongoing debates and it brings all to life with real life stories the wonder of this book is its insistence on hope not a naïve idealistic hope but one accompanied by a tool box for concrete action that might right the wrongs of this tragic tale anat biletzki professor of philosophy tel aviv university and albert schweitzer professor of philosophy quinnipiac university chairperson of b tselem 2001 2006 eve spangler is a sociologist and a human and civil rights activist for the last decade her work has focused on the israel palestine conflict she argues that human rights are the neglected standards that could lead to a just and sustainable solution this book centres the voices and agency of migrants by refocusing attention on the diversity and complexity of human mobility when seen from the perspective of people on the move in doing so the volume disrupts the binary logics of migrant refugee push pull and places of origin destination that have informed the bulk of migration research drawn from a range of disciplines and methodologies this anthology links disparate theories approaches and geographical foci to better understand the spectrum of the migratory experience from the viewpoint of migrants themselves the book explores the causes and consequences of human displacement at different scales both individual and community level and across different time points from antiquity to the present and geographies not just the global north but also the global south transnational scholars across a range of knowledge cultures advance a broader global discourse on mobility and migration that centres on the direct experiences and narratives of migrants themselves both interdisciplinary and accessible this book will be useful for scholars and students in migration studies global studies sociology geography and anthropology

what it means to be palestinian is a narrative of narratives a collection of personal stories remembered feelings and reconstructed experiences by different palestinians whose lives were changed and shaped by history their stories are told chronologically through particular phases of the palestinian national struggle providing a composite autobiography of palestine as a landscape and as a people the book begins with the 1936 revolt against british rule in palestine and ends in 1993 with the oslo peace agreement that changed the nature and form of the national struggle it is based on in depth interviews and conversations with palestinians male and female old and young rich and poor religious and secular in jordan lebanon syria israel and the occupied territories presented as remembered personal narratives and as social histories these conversations provide a deep intimate account of what it means to be palestinian in the 21st century the british army s devastating effectiveness against colonial rebellion is exposed in this military history of britain s pacification of the arab revolt in palestine in stateless citizenship shourideh c molavi examines the mechanisms of exclusion of palestinian citizens in the zionist incorporation regime and centres our analytical gaze on the paradox that it is through the provision of israeli citizenship that palestinians are deemed stateless hekmat al taweel 1922 2008 was a native palestinian christian from gaza city whose narrative unearths a version of history long excluded from mainstream discourse and provides an unfamiliar perspective on muslim christian relationships her stories about life in gaza highlight shared history vibrant culture and cherished traditions al taweel continued her education after marriage sought community volunteer work worked as a teacher and supervisor and committed to activism throughout her life all of which contradicts widespread western orientalized stereotypes of arab women she also shares insights into life in gaza during the british mandate period as well as the 1948 nakba and its aftermath this is the third book in the women s voices from gaza series which honours women s unique and underrepresented perspectives on the social material and political realities of palestinian life

this rich and magisterial work traces palestine's millennia old heritage uncovering cultures and societies of astounding depth and complexity that stretch back to the very beginnings of recorded history starting with the earliest references in egyptian and assyrian texts nur masalha explores how palestine and its palestinian identity have evolved over thousands of years from the bronze age to the present day drawing on a rich body of sources and the latest archaeological evidence masalha shows how palestine's multicultural past has been distorted and mythologised by biblical lore and the israel palestinian conflict in the process masalha reveals that the concept of palestine contrary to accepted belief is not a modern invention or one constructed in opposition to israel but rooted firmly in ancient past palestine represents the authoritative account of the country's history after the 1993 oslo accords a handful of palestinians were allowed to return to their hometowns in israel fida jiryis and her family were among them this beautifully written memoir tells the story of their journey which is also the story of palestine from the nakba to the present a seventy five year tale of conflict exodus occupation return and search for belonging seen through the eyes of one writer and her family jiryis reveals how her father sabri a plo leader and advisor to yasser arafat chose exile in 1970 because of his work her own childhood in beirut was shaped by regional tensions the lebanese civil war and the 1982 israeli invasion which led to her mother's death thirteen years later the family made an unexpected return to fassouta their village of origin in the galilee but fida twenty two years old and full of love for her country had no idea what she was getting into stranger in my own land chronicles a desperate at times surreal search for a homeland between the galilee the west bank and the diaspora asking difficult questions about what the right of return would mean for the millions of palestinians waiting to come home this book brings together testimonials from people of different nationalities and professions who are pro palestinian whether as scholars film makers artists musicians activists or ngo workers using what oral historians call the focused life history renowned scholar rosemary sayigh invites her contributors to describe the experiences events motives and feelings that led them to support the palestinian cause the book is the first of its kind in palestiniography and includes voices from countries across the world a chapter is dedicated to each country and contributors are asked to reveal how they discovered palestine given that palestine is rarely mentioned in school textbooks or university courses whether by travel friendship study membership in a political party or book group they are also asked to detail what specific forms their engagement has taken ranging from scholarly creative militant or charitable and what their hopes are for the international solidarity movement finally each contributor reflects on if they feel a just and equitable solution can ever be achieved for palestinians and if they accept the label pro palestinian or would rather define their relationship to the palestinians in some other way with testimonies from both high profile and grassroots activists the book is a rich and personal selection that reflects the diversity dynamism and global nature of the movement for palestine canada as a settler colony on the question of palestine explores canada palestine relations through a settler colonial lens the authors argue that there are direct parallels between canada's settler colonial project and its support for the israeli settler colonial dispossession of palestinians chapters reflect on community politics and activism migration orientalism and critical race theory among its unique contributions the volume provides a fresh look at canada's foreign policy as informed and shaped by its own history of settler colonialism the collection also illuminates the breadth and depth of palestinian life in canada throughout the chapters are connected by common themes of settler colonial destruction dispossession segregation and otherness as well as accounts of people challenging those processes in search of a better and fairer world the book will be of interest to scholars in indigenous studies international relations peace and conflict studies canadian studies palestine studies and beyond contributors samer abdelnour nadia abu zahra rachad antonius lina assi m muhannad ayyash peige desjarlais randa farah azeezah kanji maurice jr labelle nadia naser najjab emily regan wills mira sucharov jeremy wildeman foreword by veldon coburn tourism in palestine has been receiving an increasingly important profile given its economic and religious importance and the significant role it plays in israeli palestinian relations representation of palestinian statehood and identity and wider middle eastern politics nevertheless palestine like much of the middle east as a whole remains extremely underrepresented in tourism literature this title aims to fill this void by being the first book dedicated to exploring the significance of tourism in relationship to palestine the book examines the role of tourism in palestine at three main levels first it provides an overview of destination management and marketing issues for the tourism industry in palestine and addresses not only the visitor markets and the economic significance of tourism but also the realities of the difficulties of destination management marketing and promotion of the palestinian state second it provides a series chapters and case studies that interrogate not only the various forms of tourism in palestine but also its economic social environmental and spiritual importance this section also conveys a dimension to tourism in palestine that is not usually appreciated in the western mainstream media the third section indicates the way in which tourism in palestine highlights broader questions and debates in tourism studies and the way in which travel in the region is framed in wider discourses a significant dimension of the book is the attention it gives to the different voices of stakeholders in palestinian tourism at varying levels of scale this timely volume will offer the reader significant insight into the challenges and issues of tourism in this area now and in the future it will benefit those interested in tourism middle east studies politics economics development studies and geography

a contemporary follow up to the groundbreaking power of maps this book takes a fresh look at what maps do whose interests they serve and how they can be used in surprising creative and radical ways denis wood describes how cartography facilitated the rise of the modern state and how maps continue to embody and project the interests of their creators he demystifies the hidden assumptions of map making and explores the promises and limitations of diverse counter mapping practices today thought provoking illustrations include u s geological survey maps electoral and transportation maps and numerous examples of critical cartography participatory gis and map art the book will be important reading for geographers and others interested in maps and their political uses it will also serve as a supplemental text in advanced undergraduate and graduate level courses such as cartography gis geographic thought and history of geography when christians collude in crimes against humanity they betray their citizenship in the kingdom of god demonstrating that christ s lordship does not rule over every area of their lives the popular ideology known as christian zionism is a prime enabler of such widespread discipleship failure in western christianity as the state of israel continues to violate international law with colonial settlement in lands captured by warfare legalized racial discrimination and the creation of what many have called the world s largest open air prison in gaza christian zionists continue their unqualified support for zionist israel though israel advertises itself as the only democracy in the middle east it is actually a rigid ethnocracy its entire society built on the foundations of jewish supremacy over a palestinian underclass history will eventually judge christian zionist support for israel s crimes against the palestinians in the same way people of conscience now condemn the christian church in the american south for its defense of slavery and hostility towards the civil rights movement just as the southern baptist church finally repudiated its pro slavery past so everyone genuinely devoted to jesus christ must repudiate both the ideology and the legacy of christian zionism web review the plot of seconds away has all the incidental felicities that we turn to coben for and as usual the requisite number of diverting twists to keep the reader off balance but most of all it s the humanity of coben s writing that distinguishes him from his crime writing peers seconds away is vintage fare
