the essential guide to geopolitics in the modern middle east the middle east is in crisis the shocking events of the war in gaza have rocked the entire region more than a decade ago the arab spring had raised hopes of a new beginning but instead ushered in a series of civil wars coups and even harsher autocracies tensions were exacerbated by the meddling of outsiders as regional and global powers sought to further their interests the united states for so long the dominant actor had stepped back leaving a vacuum behind it to be fought over christopher phillips explores geopolitical rivalries in the region and the major external powers vying for influence russia china the eu and the us moving through ten key flashpoints from syria to palestine phillips argues that the united states

overextension after the cold war and retreat in the 2010s has imbalanced the region today the middle east remains blighted by conflicts of unprecedented violence and a post american scramble for power leaving its fate in the balance the arab uprisings have put lebanon under increased strain while the revolutions in tunisia and egypt caused limited reverberations the war in syria echoed in the fine tuned political and confessional balance of lebanon over one million refugees equal to one quarter of lebanon s population have moved in from syria the country s economy and its already weak public infrastructure have been impacted heavily hizbullah s engagement in syria has posed questions about lebanon s disassociation policy terrorist attacks by isil and the growing risk of radicalization across the confessional spectrum have left the country at unease however lebanon s political elites have vowed to shield the country from regional turbulences lebanon recently saw a series of demonstrations because of the inability of the government to manage the garbage crisis but it has been far from witnessing a large scale citizen uprising similar to the 2005 cedar revolution or the revolts next door this book provides a comprehensive overview of the current situation in lebanon and a detailed assessment of the difficulties which the country is currently facing beware of small states wrote mikhail bukanin in 1870 he could have meant lebanon a sectarian state no bigger than wales that has become battleground for one of the defining conflicts of twentieth century history throughout its short existence it has been attacked invaded occupied or interfered with to serve the political interests of foreign powers resulting a series of devastating wars and crises to understand lebanon s history is to understand the history of the entire region and with the rise of hizbullah it has come to assume a disproportionate dangerous power of its own iran and israel now face each other in the hills of south lebanon david hirst author of the gun and the olive branch is a hugely respected commentator on the arab israeli crisis in a masterly narrative he gives a much needed comprehensive history of the country and its conflicts culminating with the recent war in gaza and its fallout in lebanon powerful and often moving beware of small states is a magisterial book essential reading for understanding lebanon or the current political climate of the middle east regional struggles wars and local confrontations have marked the south of lebanon since the end of the 1960s they have transformed this marginalized and rural region into a battlefield and redefined the relationships between international regional and local actors the most recent of these actors the palestinian refugees and their armed resistance the islamic shi i movement hizbullah and the un local mission unifil have marked and shaped the place and in turn operating in this borderland has affected their identities based on daniel meier s extensive fieldwork in the region this book offers interviews with militants his own observations of this conflict ridden and dangerous region as well as incisive political analysis concerning the armed militias operating in the area it is through this in depth examination of the southern borderlands of lebanon that meier sheds new light on some of the major middle eastern confrontations of the last half a century lebanon today is at a fateful crossroads in its eventful socio cultural and political history imperiled by unsettling transformations from postwar reconstruction and rehabilitation to the forces of postmodernity and globalism it remains adrift in this landmark study samir khalaf explores how ordinary citizens burdened by the consequences of an ugly and unfinished war persisting regional rivalries mounting economic deprivation and diminishing prospects for well being find meaning and coherence in a society that has not only lost its moorings and direction but also its sense of control khalaf argues that a mood of lethargy and indifference prevails with a growing tendency for the lebanese to seek refuge in religiosity communalism and cloistered spatial identities or temporary relief in the allure of mass consumerism a dynamic account of the sharia in lebanon as both state law and as personal ethics drawing on innovative research into sectarian political struggle in beirut mohamad hafeda shows how boundaries in a divided city are much more than simple physical divisions and reveals the ways in which city dwellers both experience them and subvert them in unexpected ways through research based on interviews documentation of various media representations such as maps visual imagery and gallery installations negotiating conflict in lebanon exposes the methods through which sectarian narratives are constructed arguing for the need to question deconstruct and transform these constructions hafeda expands upon the definition of bordering practice by considering artistic research as a critical spatial practice which allows self reflection and transformation of border positions this study offers an alternative view to the mainstream narratives of what is meant by a border and provides insights methods and lessons that may be applied to other cities around the world affected by conflict and political sectarian segregation over the past decades there has been a consistent and poignant ambiguity with regard to the role of education in the context of post conflict and divided societies working towards building peace most recently global developments including the after effects of the arab spring the devastating wars in syria and the refugee crisis in europe have directed our attention once more to the part that education can play in building peace at many levels in this context it is timely to create a space for a focused inquiry and scholarly debate about peace oriented pedagogies and how they might affect the post conflict reconstruction in divergent settings thus both the subject and the content of this book are important in the light of the current needs in many societies emerging from conflicted community relations in particular they propose a refreshing and transformative view of peace based on a humanising conception of education and dialogic pedagogy as a key avenue for peacebuilding through both conceptual inquiries and empirical case studies the book will appeal to educational thinkers researchers practitioners policy makers ngo workers and the public in re examining some of the key concepts identifying pivotal underlying issues in the field furthermore by offering a principled persuasive conceptual framework and by problematising implementations and interventions in practice this book can serve to provoke more appraisals evaluations and constructive critiques of humanisation and dialogic pedagogy in peacebuilding education this book was originally published as a special issue of compare a journal of comparative and international education war and the city examines the geopolitical significance of the lebanese civil war through a micro level exploration of how the urban landscape of beirut was transformed by the conflict focusing on the initial phase of the war in 1975 and 1976 the volume also draws significant parallels with more recent occurrences of internecine conflict and with the historical legacies of lebanon's colonial past while most scholarship has thus far focused on post war reconstruction of the city the initial process of destruction has been neglected this volume thus moves away from formal macro level geopolitical analysis to propose instead an exploration of the urban nature of conflict through its spaces infrastructures bodies and materialities the book utilizes urban viewpoints in order to highlight the nature of sovereignty in lebanon and how it is inscribed on the urban landscape war and the city presents a view of geopolitics as not only shaping narratives of international relations but as crucially reshaping the space of cities explores the battlegrounds of lebanon its history and years of war the country has endured covering three lebanese municipalities with striking sectarian diversity saida bourj hammoud and tyre this book investigates the ways in which local service delivery local interactions and vertical relationships matter in building peace

the project discusses hezbollah's political ideology and how it evolves over time and the conditions that lead to the change of ideology the author also examines hezbollah's relationship with the patron states syria and iran in contrast with major arguments in the literature the book argues that political ideologies are not fixed and they evolve depending on a number of factors such as the change in context major events like a civil war in the patron state and most importantly when the change of ideology becomes linked to survival of the insurgency this monograph will appeal to a wide range of audiences such as researchers scholars and graduate students in the fields of middle eastern studies political studies islamism and nationalism from ukraine to afghanistan and beyond occupations and exit dilemmas permeate contemporary geopolitics however the existing literature on territorial conflict rarely scrutinizes a pivotal related question what makes a state withdraw from an occupied territory or entrench itself within it in understanding territorial withdrawal rob geist pinfold addresses this research gap he focuses primarily on israel a unique but important milieu that offers pertinent lessons for other states facing similar policy problems as pinfold demonstrates occupiers choose to either perpetuate or abandon an occupation because of three factors their relations with the occupied interactions with third parties and the occupier's domestic politics he argues that each withdrawal is the culmination of a gradual process of policy re assessment critically it is a combination of local violence and international pressure that causes popular and elite opinion within the occupier to endorse an exit rather than perpetuate the status quo to affirm this pattern pifold constructs a generalizable framework for understanding territorial withdrawal he then applies this framework to multiple case studies which include israel s withdrawal from the sinai peninsula between 1974 1982 its unilateral withdrawal from southern lebanon in 2000 and its unilateral disengagement from the gaza strip in 2005 as well as israel s non withdrawals from the west bank and golan heights overall understanding territorial withdrawal delineates commonalities that manifested in each exit yet were absent in the cases of occupation without exit a powerful analysis of a central concern for the study of international security territorial conflict and the arab israel conflict alike this book provides a critical intervention that identifies why occupiers either retain or leave occupied territory alternative forms of government and statehood exist in the middle east and north african regions the chapters in this volume demonstrate this and explore the notion of power from a non statist perspective highlighting the limits of states and their governance using empirical evidence from syria libya lebanon tunisia iraq yemen and mali the authors explore non standard cases where power may be retained by a state but must be shared with a number of local actors resulting in limited statehood and hybrid governance which leads to competition and sharing of symbolic and political power within a state this book is intended to prompt a critical reflection on the meaning of governance it will illuminate informal structures which deserve attention when studying governance and power dynamics within a state or a region this book was originally published as a special issue of small wars insurgencies

drawing on various perspectives and analysis the handbook problematizes middle east politics through an interdisciplinary prism seeking a melioristic account of the field thematically organized the chapters address political social and historical questions by showcasing both theoretical and empirical insights all of which are represented in a style that ease readers into sophisticated induction in the middle east it positions the didactic at the centre of inquiry contributions by forty four scholars both veterans and
